MADISON AVENUE ACCIDENT at 7:45 a.m. yesterday as Vickie L. Burkley, 22, of 5118 Lakeview Drive, Pontoon Beach, is placed in an ambulance after being removed from her pickup truck. She was attempting to brush a moth away from in front of her face when the truck struck a utility pole, breaking it off and downing power lines in the 1800 block of Madison Avenue. Among those helping at the scene is Granite City Patrolman Fred Hoffman, in the center of the photo. Admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital, she had a knee cut, leg bruise and possible back injury.

TO PUT IT BRIEFLY, a new sign at Niedringhaus and Edison Avenues and 20th Street might carry the government's affinity for abbreviations too far. This sign, spelled out in full, would say "United States of America, Saint Louis Area Support Center, Army Aviation Systems Command." It directs traffic toward the Granite City Army Installation. Remember when it used to be called the D-20-0?

The writing above is not the Polish version of Bobby Vinton's ethnic musical hit, "Melody of Love." It is the Armenian way to say "Board of Trustees of the St. Gregory Illuminator Armenian Apostolic Church, Granite City, Ill. 62040."

All of which is an introduction to the fact that the church's Armenian Community Center Building Committee is sponsoring a special benefit night at 8 o'clock Saturday, May 15, at the Holy Trinity Church Hall, 1245 Madison Ave., Madison.

Proceeds of the "Las Vegas night" will go to future community center projects. Tickets costing $2 currently are being sold and food and beverages will be served.

Boost in worth of homes seen

THIRD OF A SERIES

(Related article on Page 43)

Owners of homes served by the Madison County Board sanitary sewer system — on which bids are scheduled this year — will find their residences' worth enhanced, area realtors are emphasizing during contacts with property owners.

Members of the Granite City Board of Realtors and a unit of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, both headed by John Krekovich, are cooperating with the Chamber's Sewers and Drainage Committee, led by David Partney, and with Chamber Executive Vice-President Edward Reiske.

Progress reports were voiced at the May board of directors meeting of the Chamber, held last night at Sunset Hill Holiday Inn.

Considerable headway is being made in obtaining the remaining easements for installation of the major new networks of sanitary sewer lines, Partney noted.

For the current month, all pending easements are being coordinated through the Chamber office, 1831 Delmar Ave., 876-6600. Property owners not yet contacted are being invited to check with that office.

Board members last night voiced belief that the comprehensive sewer project can be carried out effectively as currently planned, and stressed adherence to the bidding timetable that has been outlined.

May was described as the key month in terms of the public hearings and the completion of easements. Hearings are to be held May 15 and 22.

Earliest possible conclusion of negotiations with the City of Granite City on utilization of the regional sewage treatment plant was urged during the board meeting.

Residents' investments in their homes will be greatly enhanced when they have sewer connections, the committee and realtors are emphasizing.

The new sewer system also will be an asset to commercial property, and it is regarded as certain by industrial development authorities that the sewers will spawn new industrial-commercial facilities and centers.

Such new development will enlarge the base on which the local portion of the cost will be financed, thus leading to a steady reduction in the tax rate utilized to retire bonds, the Unique planning here for new municipality

(37th of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series)

Unlike many cities in the United States, Granite City cautions its ancestry to an Indian village, a trading post, or a pioneer ferry landing.

This lack of lineage may be due to the fact that the river flooded the area for centuries. The site is a mile inland from the western border of the State of Illinois.

The Mississippi River had carved a lens-shaped valley amid hills of yellowish loess.

The location had rich alluvial soil, but in the valley of fertile areas traditionally known as the American Bottom, this was of little economic significance.

It was not until the 1890s, when the Niedringhaus area selected the site, that the area changed from a farming to an industrial district.

In the spring of 1894, construction workers invaded the fields and began the erection of new factories. The Market Lead Works, the American Steel Foundry, the St. Louis Stamping Works and the Granite City Steel Works.

The last two were erected by the Niedringhaus and were the largest manufacturing plants of their particular kind in the world at that time.

The brothers were instrumental in bringing other companies to the city, especially the large plants of the American Steel Foundries Company and the Commercial Steel Company.

Summer tuition appears likely

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

Although no action was taken, the Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night indicated a tuition fee of $35 per class may be the only practical means available to finance summer school in the Granite City High Schools this summer.

The proposal has drawn criticism from many students and parents who have been accustomed to tuition-free summer school, but Frank L. Kraus, assistant superintendent of the Granite City schools, told the board Tuesday night that tuition may be the only way to finance summer school without significantly harming the district's regular school-year programs.

Kraus also predicted classes may be offered only at the high school level and may have to be limited to required basic courses students need to graduate with their own classmates.

Separate proposals are being considered for band and vocal classes since the number of students per instructor is much larger. "We may be able to get by with a $10 tuition fee for students in band and music programs this summer," Kraus indicated.

Kraus noted he has warned the board and the public of the possibility state funds for summer school may not be offered this year. "It has happened, according to all present indications," Kraus said.

He said Dr. Joseph M. Cronin was in Granite City last week. "He seemed to change his stance. He indicated there will be no funds for summer school in state aid," Kraus said.

The assistant superintendent said after hearing Dr. Cronin's remarks, "We started calling Springfield and everyone. All said there definitely will be no state aid for summer school this year."

Tully A. Heubner, director of business affairs for the district, said he was in Springfield last week and all indications from state officials were not to look for state aid for summer school or for any supplemental appropriations for this year's regular state aid.

Heubner noted the state has paid 94.1 per cent of the district's state aid claims this year, but the remaining 5.9 per cent is not expected to be sent. Kraus said the latest information he has received indicates the district should be conservative in its estimates and should plan on receiving only 90 per cent of its state aid claims next year, and only if that total is not more than the total the district

Confer on Benjamin annexation

Property owners of the Benjamin Addition, a residential area of approximately 600 persons just outside the northwest Granite City limits, have been invited to meet with city and township officials Tuesday night to discuss the possibility of annexing the area to the city to provide city services, particularly fire protection.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers at the City Hall. Invitations have been sent by the office of Mayor Paul Schuler.

Asking that they attend the meeting to discuss the annexation potential and what the residents would gain from such action.

Nine property owners of that area petitioned for annexation to the city in October 1975 following a fire that destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tinsley, damaged two other homes and for a while threatened the life of a 4-year-old girl. The area at that time was outside a fire district and Granite City firemen did not respond to the call until they learned that a child was endangered and that there was a chance the entire block could be placed under a state law that places all unincorporated areas within the jurisdiction of some fire protection unit.

No action was taken on the annexation petitions last year because the location of some of the properties is not contiguous to the city boundaries. Officials concluded spot annexations were impossible and that it would be necessary to annex the entire area to offer city services to any residents of the addition.

Schuler said officials will Downtown beautification

Proposals for a large mosaic detailing the history of Granite City, a downtown museum, industrial plant tours to spur tourism and general outdoor beautification were among those presented for the revitalization of downtown Granite City during the monthly Prayer Breakfast of civic leaders hosted Wednesday by the Community Service Committee of the Granite City Rotary Club.

Don Strohmeier, planner with Downtown Granite City

Inc., was the principal speaker at the event. He detailed proposals for improved traffic flow, better parking and basic downtown beautification.

Strohmeier stressed that a positive attitude about the downtown area is the most important thing for its growth and development. He predicted, "It will be a delightful experience to be downtown, and in the future, when you have visitors from out-of-town, you are going to take them downtown."

He detailed proposals for beautified parking areas about 300 feet, on the average, for the downtown area with tastefully decorated alleys leading from the parking areas to the shopping areas.

All plans are to make walking downtown a pleasant experience, he said, noting, "We want a walking area downtown."

Assisting in the project are Supt. of Streets Lionel Portell, left, Ken

Mayor Paul Schuler asked the Beautification Committee to coordinate landscape work on the city-owned property, a gift to the community from E. A. Karandjoff. Seek grants for county

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council's board of directors has endorsed two grant applications for projects in Madison County.

Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of both the Madison County Board and the Gateway Council's board, announced that the projects, if approved by appropriate federal agencies, would bring over $38,000 in funds to the county.

One project proposes to study expansion of sewage treatment plant facilities in the Village of Glen Carbon. It requests $12,610 in federal money, to be matched by $4,200 in local funds, to be used to analyze treatment facility needs in Glen Carbon over the next 20 years.

This analysis is the first step a community must take in order to qualify for federal money to build facilities necessary to meet water quality treatment standards. The federal funds are to be made available as part of the national effort to clean up the country's waters.

The second grant is for a court-related program in Alton to provide free counseling, therapy and referral services to drug abuse offenders charged with a misdemeanor prior to their trial.

The program would, by evaluating the offenders and making sentencing recommendations, assist courts in determining proper disposition of such cases.

The program would provide service to an estimated 100 clients and would consist of three months of intensive outpatient therapy, with follow-up treatment in six months and one year.

The sewage treatment grant application will be forwarded to the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency and the drug abuse application will go to the Illinois Dangerous Drug Commission.

2nd Cor. 11:3... "But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtlety so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ."

For all of the profound teaching of the Apostle Paul, he maintains always the simplicity of being in Christ. It is sadly true that through church governments, traditions, and bylaws, it is almost impossible for a seeker of Christ to find his way home today. However, this simple statement of Jesus Christ clears the way for you: "Whoever will, let him come and I will in no wise cast him out." (John 6:37).

Isn't that beautiful? How will I know I am saved? The simplest way is to "Believe in thine heart that God raised Christ from the dead, and confess it with your mouth and you shall be saved." (Rom. 10:9).

Simple enough? How will I know I am growing in grace? Simply love God with all of your heart and your neighbor as yourself and you are on your way. (Mt. 22:37-40).

Multiplier will be slightly less than 1

Because 1975 property assessments have been adjusted to state guidelines, Madison County taxpayers will receive a reduction in assessments for this year's tax bills under a 1980 multiplying factor certified to the county by the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs.

In recent years the county has received a multiplier of 1, which left assessments prepared by county assessing officials unchanged. This year's multiplier will reduce the total county assessment by 1.15 per cent.

The multiplying factors set by the state are based on the fair cash value of property. Madison County officials have adjusted assessments under a new state law calling for a countywide assessment ratio of 33.33 per cent of fair cash value.

The legislation gives the counties three years to accomplish the ratio changeover from the previous 50 per cent recommended ratio.

Madison County assessment officials have raised a large quantity of rural assessments to accomplish a part of the adjustment this year. Some rural property previously was assessed as low as 17 per cent of fair cash value, county officials said.

The reduction could be made by the Board of Review which has been swamped with requests for board hearings as a result of increases in farm property assessments, or by the office of County Clerk Evelyn Bowles when it extends taxes.

The county's new overall assessment for the 1975 year is $1,659,798.

Park board renames Gabriel president

Henry R. Gabriel, a Granite City architect, was re-elected last night to his third term as president of the Granite City Board of Park Commissioners.

Also at the annual reorganizational meeting, Barry Loman, vice president of Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, was re-elected board president.

Harold R. Brown was re-elected as director of parks and recreation at an annual salary of $12,360, an increase of $1,120 over last year's figure. He has been with the local park district for the past 12 years and has served as director since 1962.

Board officers retained for 1976-77 are: Frank R. Rea, board secretary for 21 years, at a yearly salary of $4,706, an increase of $130 per year; John Mink, treasurer, who has held that position for six years, at an annual salary of $3,840, a $400 raise; and Randall E. Robert, son attorney for the past year, for 23 years, who received an increase of $390 for a total annual fee of $4,394.

In other business at last night's special meeting, the commissioners authorized the purchase of an ice creamer for the new concession restroom building, to be erected at West Granite Park, at a cost of $5,177.

The equipment is being acquired at wholesale cost with cooperation of the Pepsi-Cola Co. which was learned.

The machine produces 1,000 pounds of ice each 24 hours, has a daily storage capacity between 500 and 600 pounds and a six foot drink attachment.

Approval was granted to the Granite City Society for Crippled Children to sponsor a performance by the Checkerboard Square Band at the annual picnic for handicapped youngsters. The event will take place from 5 to 8 p.m. Sunday, May 23.

Also scheduled by the commissioners was the Granite City Park District's annual parade to open the 1976 baseball season, starting at 1 p.m. Saturday, May 15, at 24th Street and Madison Avenue.

Salvation Army week observance

National Salvation Army Week will be observed in the Quad-Cities May 10-16.

Captain Michael Tompkins has announced the following events to which the public is invited:

Displays throughout the Downtown Granite City area.

Divisional self denial ingathering May 11 in St. Louis.

Service Fair at South High May 15, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Advisory board Sunday, May 16, 11 a.m. at the Citadel.

33rd annual civic meeting dinner 6:30 p.m. Thursday, May 27, at 3007 E. 23rd St. Location of the new SA Community Center.

For the annual meeting tickets are available at 1909 Grand Ave. cost is $4.

Capt. Tompkins commented, "It seems right during National Salvation Army Week to feel some pride in the contributions we've made to the spiritual strength of this country."

"In our early years, we fed the hungry, sheltered the homeless and preached God's love for mankind."

"Today, our services are much broader—programs for the youth, the elderly and the whole family."

"And we still have one paramount purpose—to help bring men and women into a right relationship with God."

Capt. Tompkins said the Salvation Army came to America 95 years ago, we've been around for a substantial part of the 200 years of U.S. history.

A Long Lake fire department rescue squad was called to the scene and took Simpson to the hospital.

Urge response to Congress on phone rate legislation

Telephone company shareholders were urged Wednesday night to write Congress concerning federal legislation aimed at maintaining reasonable rates for residence telephone users.

The legislation, called the Consumer Communications Reform Act of 1976, was highlighted at a "mini annual meeting" of the Collinsville Telephone & Telegraph Co. shareholders held in Collinsville at the Holiday Inn.

"This is an industry bill and a consumer bill," said James E. Olson, president of Illinois Bell. "It has the backing of the independent telephone companies, state regulators and our citizens in rural areas." Some 1,600 U.S. telephone companies, including 61 in Illinois, the U.S. Independent Telephone Association and National Telephone Cooperative Association are supporting the program.

In addition, the principles underlying the proposed legislation have been endorsed by labor unions representing telephone employees, the National Association of Regulatory Utilities Commissioners and the American Farm Bureau Federation.

"The issue is not one of monopoly versus competition and free enterprise," Olson added. "Opponents will try to tell the public that this is the issue. It's not. The real issue is the quality of telecommunication services in this country and its cost to the American consumer."

The legislation, which has been introduced by two Illinois Congressmen, Edward Der-

Attacks on the project from out-of-town interests may reflect the fact that the sanitary sewer program will be a boon to the Quad-City area and will brighten local ability to prosper and compete with other communities. It was asserted that the project would be placed on local residents, the discussion brought out.

A call was issued for a team approach, in which partisan and personal differences are set aside and all Quad-Cityans join in an unselfish, affirmative effort to secure public approval and a prompt start on sewer construction.

A glowing picture of a more prosperous, healthful, diverse and attractive community was visualized last night as the goal, rewarding all Quad-Cityans.

Their area of service now extends from Chicago to Shreveport, La.

As part of the celebration of their century of service in this country, members of the Order are visiting various missions throughout their area of service, presenting a play about their arrival in the United States, specifically to the St. Louis region.

Hearings on unemployment compensation

State Rep. Allan L. Schoeberlein (R., Aurora), chairman of the Illinois Commission on Labor Laws, has announced a schedule of statewide hearings on the subject of the state's unemployment compensation insurance laws. Commissioner John N. Simon, Chicago, will chair the committee holding the hearings.

An Edwardsville hearing is set for May 12.

Rep. Schoeberlein said the committee will hold a minimum of seven days of hearings to study and receive testimony concerning the Illinois Unemployment Insurance Act (Ch. 48 Sec. 300). Department of Labor Division of Unemployment Insurance regulations issued pursuant to it, the efficacy and administration of the law, inconsistency and problems that claimants are experiencing in receiving checks and suggestions for change.

The full hearing schedule is: Edwardsville, May 12; Marion, May 14 and 15; Champaign, May 16; Rockford, May 21 and 22; and Galesburg, May 24.

Other members of the committee include: Sen. Harber H. Hall (R., Bloomington); Charles Hayes, Chicago; Almagataated Meatcutters and Butcher Workmen of Chicago; Rep. Ronald K. outline to the residents Tuesday night the approximate cost in tax dollars to property owners if they become part of the city and the advantages they would receive from fire protection, sewer service, police patrols and other city services.

Schuler said Granite City Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse will attend the Tuesday night meeting to answer questions concerning property assessments and tax problems. Members of the City Council also were asked by Mayor Schuler to attend the session.

While the city has considered plans for annexation of the area, Venice Township officials are making efforts to retain the area within Venice Township. Christ Pashoff, township supervisor, said loss of the area would be a "blow" to the township's already declining property value.

He said that the issue of fire protection has been resolved by assignment of the area to the Mitchell Fire District, and that negotiations have been held with officials of the Illinois Power Co. and the Interurban Water Co. for the installation of street lights by the power company in the area.

Pashoff said fire hydrant installation is expected soon and work on the street lights is scheduled in June.

He said the area involved covers about five acres in which there are 123 homes, one church and three other buildings.

Mrs. Geraldine S. Myres, 54, of 5445 Maryville Road, a retired registered nurse, died at 6 a.m. today at Colonial Haven Nursing Home.

Born in Belleville, Mrs. Myres resided in St. Louis County before moving to Granite City eight years ago. She is survived by her husband, Malcolm Myres. Arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Renewal forms for second division vehicles mailed

Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state, announced Wednesday that 1,108,968 pre-printed renewal applications have been mailed to owners of second division vehicles for 1976-77 fiscal year registrations.

"Last year we mailed 1,192,038 pre-prints for second division vehicles," Howlett said. "The reduction is due primarily to the changeover of recreational vehicles to a calendar year registration period."

Howlett said the deadline for displaying current 1975-76 second division plates on vehicles is midnight, June 30. Second division vehicles include trucks, trailers, boat trailers, farm trucks and farm trailers.

Mayor vetoes TV funding bill

An amended appropriation bill that would have taken $45,838 out of Street Department funds to repay another account for purchase of the city's television and grouting equipment used in sanitary sewer repairs was vetoed by Mayor Paul Schuler Monday night.

The mayor told the council he was taking the veto action because a ruling by the Environmental Protection Agency rejecting payment for the equipment out of the Plant Construction fund has been appealed and that there is a chance EPA still may pay for the equipment.

The televising and grouting equipment, used by the street department to inspect and seal weakening sewer lines in the Nameoki area, was purchased last year and was paid for out of the treatment plant construction fund which included 75 per cent in federal EPA grants.

Later, EPA ruled that the monitoring equipment was not eligible for federal grant funds and that the city would have to pay that cost.

As a result, the council two weeks ago approved an amended appropriation which would have taken the $45,838 from street department accounts to replace the money originally taken from the treatment plant fund.

"I hate to take this money out of regular general fund use when there still is a chance that we can get the payment from EPA," Schuler told the aldermen. "We have appealed the ruling on the payment and I think we stand a chance of getting the money," he added.

Council members concurred in the veto action.

Purchase of the TV-grouting system was recommended after a 15-month engineering study of Granite City's water table problems causing breaks in sanitary sewer lines. The television equipment provides an interior inspection of the sewer lines and the grouting equipment is used to seal breaks and separate tiles to prevent infiltration.

The council Monday night also enacted an ordinance providing for two-way traffic on Grand Avenue between 18th and 19th Street.

A committee will prepare recommendations for a new ordinance regulating the licensing of signs at business places which overhang the sidewalks or streets.

The present ordinance requires payment of a $25 annual fee for each sign overhanging public property. Many complaints that this fee works a hardship on business operators have been received by the aldermen who have suggested a revision of the ordinance.

The council also has suggested a thorough study of all present business licenses with a view toward revising present city ordinances to include many operations not now licensed.

SEERS COURT RULING

A hearing was to be conducted today in Edwardsville on a request by Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron that civil charges against Apex Oil Co. be reinstated. The company was indicted for allegedly allowing caustic waste to leak into a drainage ditch at the Tri-City Regional Port and several persons allegedly received chemical burns in the ditch. Byron said he is seeking penalties and not fines. The court previously ruled the Environmental Protection Agency can assess fines in pollution cases.

Madison renews funding of Coordinated Youth

The Madison City Council Tuesday night approved a resolution to continue funding of the Madison Coordinated Youth Services (MCYS) in cooperation with the Madison public schools.

The $1,500 needed, which is supplemented by Illinois Law Enforcement Commission grants, is shared with the city paying $500 and the school system paying $1,000.

The school board approved the funding at a special meeting on April 21.

Mayor Mike Sasyk in referring to the services provided by MCYS said, "They are doing us a real fine job in helping both the youth and families of Madison. In just a few short months over 100 of our youth have been helped by MCYS. Most of their referrals come from out schools, but our police also have referred youths with problems to them."

Several aldermen also made supporting comments on the service provided by the staff of the MCYS office located at 409 Madison Ave.

The office is open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Monday through Friday. Staff members may be reached at anytime by phoning

Tickets still available for talk by Sheen

Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen will highlight the 50th anniversary of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith in Springfield, Ill., by delivering an address at the Illinois State Armory in Springfield, Sunday, May 16, p.m. and will include musical selection by the Sacred Heart and Ursuline Academies choir and by the Griffin high school band.

The Most Rev. Bishop Joseph A. McNicholas, bishop of the Springfield diocese, also will be on the program.

Tickets are still available, according to the Rev. Kevin B. Sullivan, diocesan mission director, and the public is welcome to attend.

Prepared ticket orders can be made by writing to Diocesan Mission Office, 800 S. 5th St., Springfield, Ill. 62703, or by calling (217) 789-0952. Tickets are $3 each, and if any tickets remain unsold they will be available at the door.

Archbishop Sheen, a noted lecturer, author and columnist, was the national director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith from 1950 to 1966. Under his direction the U.S. was responsible for two-thirds of the Society's general fund collected from the world.

Among the types of problems worked with are: law violations, drug, school behavior, alcohol family conflicts, birth control, and pregnancy counseling, and personal emotion problems.

"Sometimes a young person has a problem and just wants some one to listen," J. Richard Hooks, CYS counselor, said. "We are willing to help anyone we can. There's no red tape with a lot of forms, no hassle, we just want people, particularly youth, to just drop in and get acquainted with us if nothing else. We are here to be of service to the residents of Madison any way or anytime we can."

"We don't have all the answers, but we have a lot of resources and people to draw upon."

"For example every Wednesday afternoon from about 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. Mahlon Sanders is in our office. Mahlon is a drug specialist and is from the Madison County Council on Alcohol and Drug Dependency. If someone just wants to find out more about the drug or alcohol problems Mahlon can give them a lot of straight information," Hooks said.

Most GC City Council committees unchanged

Appointment of 16 City Council committees for the city's new fiscal year were announced Monday night by Mayor Paul Schuler. City council members concurred in all of the appointments which were effective as of May 1.

Under the present system, members of the council's working committees are named by the council and referred to the mayor. The mayor appoints the chairman of each committee.

In most instances, the mayor reappointed chairmen who had served during the past year, although the membership of the committees was changed to some extent since two new council members were appointed last month to fill vacancies.

Ronald Coleman of the Seventh Ward continues as chairman of the Finance Committee with Roy Poulos, Third Ward, and Warren Decatur, Fourth Ward, as members. Poulos formerly was a member of the Finance Committee, but Decatur replaces Alderman Frank Greenwald, Second Ward, on that committee.

Poulos continues as chairman of the Ordinance Committee with Earl Baker, Sixth Ward, and Steve Basarich, Fifth Ward, as members. Both Baker and Basarich are former members of that committee.

Alderman Clyde Boyd of the Third Ward continues as chairman of the Street and Alley Committee. Emerald Dawes of the Seventh Ward continues as a member of that committee, with Curt Blevins of the Third Ward as the third committee member, replacing the late R. E. Robertson on that committee.

Everett Morlen of the First Ward was reappointed chairman of the Police Committee along with both its members, Coleman and Gerald Parmley of the Sixth Ward.

The Fire and Water Committee also remained unchanged with Baker as chairman and Decatur and Morlen as members. The same was true of the Lights Committee to which Basarich was reappointed as chairman and William Dallas, First Ward, and Baker were renamed as members.

Decatur was reappointed as chairman of the Negotiating Committee with Greenwald and Dawes as members. Greenwald is a former member of the committee. Dawes replaces Parmley.

Dallas was named chairman of the Intergovernmental committee, replacing the late Walter F. Nonn, with Sam Whitmer, Ward Two, a former member of the committee, and Glen Spankie, Ward Four, who replaces Boyd on that committee.

Other committees, with the chairman named first, are: Planning and Zoning, Coleman, Dallas and Boyd; Air Pollution, Greenwald, Blevins and Basarich; Pollution plant, Sprankle, Boyd and Morlen; Special Sewer, Dawes, Parmley and Greenwald; Traffic, Whitmer, Decatur and Morlen; City Hall, Parmley, Whitmer and Sprankle; sanitation, Poulos, Coleman and Dallas, and City Buildings, Blevins, Whitmer and Dawes.

Final environmental report on middle Mississippi River

Copies of the final environmental statement for the Middle Mississippi River have been provided to state, federal and area agencies, cities and organizations, and to libraries by the St. Louis District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The district has completed a mailing of over 250 copies of the document, and notice of the availability of the statement has appeared in the Federal Register.

The environmental report covers effects of regulating works in the reach of the river between the Ohio and Missouri River confluences, a distance of 195 miles.

Men's seminar at GC mission

A Melchisedek men's seminar was held during the weekend at the Granite City Mission House, 630 Niedringhaus Ave., sponsored by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Men from three branches and missions in the St. Louis area were represented by attending priesthood, Melchisedek, and Bismarck. The speakers were Stake Designate President High Priest, Sebe L. Morgan and Elder Rock Vogel.

The first evening began with a worship service prior to a class session covering spiritual and authority aspects of presiding. In a communication exercise, each man described events of his life and testified what it means to be a Melchisedek minister in the RLDS Church.

Another seminar of three other congregations (Holly Hills, Wood River and East St. Louis branches) will take place tomorrow and Saturday. Instructors at this seminar will teach the same subject and use the same format as the other seminar.

High Priest Roland Stratman and Elder Mike Myers conducted a previous seminar. In the fall, another group of seminars will be held to cover a different subject area.

Two charged with burglary

Johnny Lee "Plank" Lucas, 36, of 1126 Douglas Ave., Venice, has been released on $500 cash bond and J. B. Greer, 28, of East St. Louis, is being held in lieu of bond in the Madison County Jail, both charged with burglary.

An 18-year-old youth is awaiting a court appearance in connection with the alleged burglary this afternoon.

The two men have been charged with the burglary of a residence at 444 Lincoln Ave., Venice, owned by Mrs. Catherine Hildebrand, shortly after 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Police said they received a telephone call from a neighbor that a burglary was in progress. Arriving at the scene, police saw a car leaving the area and stopped it at Seventh Street and Lincoln Avenue with Lucas and Greer reportedly inside.

Lucas had a cut wrist and blood allegedly was found inside the car. Police reported they also found blood inside the burglarized residence and a trail of blood leading from the house to the street.

Police have taken blood samples for comparison and said they believe the intruder may have cut himself on glass while attempting to enter.

A television set was found at the rear door which had been moved from the living room.

Counterclaim filed in inheritance tax case

Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron yesterday asked the Illinois Supreme Court to rule on the constitutionality of a statute which allows the state to keep four per cent of all inheritance taxes collected to pay for the cost of collection.

Byron filed the request as a counterclaim to a pending suit the state filed against the county earlier this year. The state is suing Madison County Treasurer George Musso for about $4,000 the state contends is its share to inheritance taxes collected in Madison County.

By his counterclaim, Byron asks the Supreme Court to find the provision unconstitutional. Actually, Byron said, he would prefer the court find the provision constitutional and clarify it, which would then allow counties to keep a portion of the taxes they collect as a collection fee.

"We are contending it is not fair for the state to keep a portion of the inheritance taxes it collects to cover its cost, but not allow the counties to keep a portion of the real estate taxes it collects," Byron told the Press-Record.

The attorney general also advised that abstention from voting is of no effect in preventing a conflict on the part of a board member.

Scott cited a state Supreme Court opinion on that point, although he took note that the

Scott cites his basis for ruling on work by board member's spouse

Attorney General William J. Scott has issued a legal opinion that a conflict of interest exists when the spouse of a school board member is employed in the district governed by that board.

Scott's opinion noted there is a "natural and probable sharing of assets between spouses... the interest of one's spouse may be attributed to one's self and be a prohibited interest," a spokesman said Wednesday at Springfield.

The attorney general also advised that abstention from voting is of no effect in preventing a conflict on the part of a board member.

Scott cited a state Supreme Court opinion on that point, although he took note that the Supreme Court has agreed to consider a case, Brown vs. Kirk, where a lower court held that abstention from discussion and voting on a matter of personal financial interest avoided a conflict.

Scott said that until the Supreme Court indicates otherwise, he must continue to hold the view that abstention from conflict matters by a board member is of no effect.

Scott said his opinion is the opposite of one given by a prior attorney general in 1951, because of a court ruling in Bock vs. Long since then, in which it was held a public official was in a conflict of interest because his wife held a publicly-regulated liquor license.

Scott's opinion was requested by Bureau County State's Attorney A. Randolph Combs. The opinion agrees with the position recently taken by the Illinois Office of Education on the advice of legal counsel.

$1 million for mine study

Cong. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.) announced Tuesday that the House Appropriations Subcommittee on the Interior has agreed to approve $1,000,000 to start exploratory drilling and study of the mine subsidence problem in the Belleville-Maryville areas. The funds are to be included in Fiscal Year 1977 Department of the Interior Appropriations bill.

Previously, Rep. Price requested that the U. S. Bureau of Mines undertake a preliminary study to determine the feasibility of a demonstration program involving bituminous coal mine subsidence. Earlier this week, the Bureau of Mines furnished Rep. Price with their report and subsequently Cong. Price requested funds to initiate the mine subsidence study.

In making the announcement Price said, "I am heartened and pleased by the Subcommittee's positive response to my request."

Two sets of glassware, each consisting of two candle holders and a flower bowl, will be offered at a silent auction at the Church Women United (CWU) May Fellowship luncheon to be held Friday at 10:30 a.m. at First United Presbyterian Church.

According to Mrs. Ronald Pennell, CWU president, the items were donated by Mrs. Pearl Campbell, an aunt of Waldo Frohardt, an active Church Women United member. One of the sets is of hand-blown pink crystal, and the second is an amber colored decorative grouping. Guest speaker Dr. Sylvia Sorokin has chosen as her topic, "It's What You Learn After You Know It All," replacing a previously announced subject. Mrs. Lois Billeby will present five vocal selections, accompanied by Mrs. Isabel Schmidt at the organ. The brunch will be served by women of the host church under the direction of Mrs. Louise Orr, Mrs. Helen Johnson, Mrs. Lee Stevens, and Mrs. Ernest Viehl.

Pottery is topic of Rotary Anns

The final meeting of the 1975-76 year of the Granite City Rotary Anns took place Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Barbara Thoeke, the Chain of Rocks Motel, Chain of Rocks Road and Route Three. After lunch, Mrs. Thoeke demonstrated the making of pottery and explained the difference in products obtained, depending on the temperature used in firing. Mrs. Thoeke then let each member create a piece of stoneware on a potter's wheel.

Mrs. JoAnn Terrell, president, conducted a business meeting and announced that installation of new Rotary Anns officers will be held June 23 when the Granite City Rotary Club installs its officers. The committee which planned the meeting consisted of Mrs. June Van Horn, chairman, and Mrs. Thoeke, Mrs. Jackie Reinsel, Mrs. Lois Adams and Mrs. Jessie Meng.

Members who attended besides Mesdames Terrell, Thoeke, Van Horn and Reinsel were Mesdames Evelyn Ackerman, Lorraine Decatur, Marie Dolzauer, Carme Froemming, Lois Hassler, Belva Edwards, Dorothy Kerch, Betty Mathias, Marian Pierson, Billie Schuler, Mary Wilkins, Lois Winter and Linda Bristol and daughter, Heather.

The next meeting of Rotary Anns will be held in October.

National Cathedral topic of talk

At a meeting of Travelers Abroad at Prather Junior High School last week, Mrs. Charles Schweizer gave an illustrated lecture on "The National Cathedral, located on Mount Alban at Massachusetts and Washington avenues in northwest Washington, D.C. Known also as The Washington Cathedral, the edifice is officially named The Cathedral Church of St. Peter and St. Paul.

Upon completion of the cathedral, probably in 1960, Mrs. Schweizer said the structure will be the sixth largest church building in the world, and one of the most majestic Gothic cathedrals.

The National Cathedral may also be the last Gothic cathedral to be erected in the world, as its architecture is by far the most expensive style of building and there are few cathedral builders left and no new ones are being trained. Mrs. Schweizer commented.

Owned by the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral Association, The National Cathedral is used and supported by people of many faiths. Mrs. Schweizer said the Serbian Orthodox and the Polish National churches have services in the cathedral one day each week. It is not a parish church which a single group of local people control, she explained.

Some 75 years ago Philip Hubert Frohmann, an architect, conceived the idea of a non-denominational church in the national capital to be used by all the American people regardless of creed, the speaker said.

Frohmann hoped for a Congressional appropriation to build a splendid edifice, but was soon told that the American principle of separation of state and church made such an appropriation impossible. Nevertheless, Frohmann went ahead with his plans and in time the Episcopal Church and many thousands of non-Episcopalians developed great enthusiasm for the project so that today the building is fast nearing completion, Mrs. Schweizer said.

Cathedral is Francis Sayre, grandson of President Woodrow Wilson. The latter is buried in the Cathedral along with several other distinguished Americans.

Mrs. Schweizer's pictures were made by the association and ranged from aerial views of the church and the entire Cathedral close (grounds) to detailed close-ups of kneelers, bosses and stained glass windows.

MARRIED Mr. and Mrs. Leonard D. Johnson, who were united in marriage at Central Christian Church. The bride is the former Miss Donna Skinner, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Winnie Sr., 2900 Harding Blvd.

Donna Skinner becomes Mrs. Leonard Johnson

The wedding of Miss Donna Skinner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Winnie Sr., 2900 Harding Blvd. and Leonard Douglas Johnson, son of Mrs. Azzalee Kilmer, 2865 Dale Ave. and Ballard Johnson, 1723 Edison Ave. was solemnized April 17 at Central Christian Church.

Candlelight illuminated the sanctuary for the double ring ceremony, performed at 7:30 p.m. by the Rev. Dennis V. Rutledge.

For her wedding the bride chose a full-length Chant lace gown designed with a molded bodice, high neckline and long full sleeves. The skirt was semi-straight.

She wore a cathedral-length mantilla veil bordered in wide lace and carried a cascade of carnations tinted blue, intermingled with baby's breath.

Maid of honor Miss Shelly Kahn selected a formal-length floral dress, half-style, in blue tones, complemented with a short bolero jacket and matching picture hat.

Bridesmaids Mrs. Clara Mitchell and Mrs. Susan Holik, sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Virginia Farley, the groom's sister, were attired in identically designed gowns in pink hues.

They also wore matching picture hats and each attendant held a bouquet of carnations in a color to match her attire.

Cindy Gibson, a niece of the bride served as flower girl. She was dressed in a blue frock similar in style to the bride's attendant and carried a miniature bouquet of blue carnations.

Bud Gibson, the bride's nephew, was the ringbearer. The groom chose Paul Brewer as his best man. Hyman Gray, an uncle of the groom, Robert James, Larry and David Johnson, brothers of the groom, and John Mitchell, a brother-in-law of the bride, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Mrs. Winnie, mother of the bride, was attired in a full-length green knit dress and jacket ensemble worn with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The groom's mother, Mrs.

Kilmer, chose a long blue and white gown worn with a blue jacket. Her accessories were white and she wore a blue and white carnation corsage.

After the ceremony, guests were received at a reception at the Croatian Hall in Madison.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted in the home of the bride's parents.

Both young people attended Granite City schools. The bride is employed at Busman Fuse Co. St. Louis.

They are now residing in Granite City.

Miss Kathleen Gavin, a June bride-elect, was guest of honor at a pre-wedding shower given this week by Mrs. Betty Mayfield, Mrs. Elsie Unger and Mrs. Joyce Edwards, at the Nameoki United Methodist Church.

Decorations were carried out in a spring theme, using blue and white and featuring large wedding bells as table centerpieces.

After the honoree opened her gifts, games were played and prizes were awarded.

Miss Gavin will be married on June 12 to Ken Reuter. A luncheon buffet was served by the hostesses to Mesdames Dorothy Gavin, mother of the bride-to-be, Adrienne Reuter, mother of the prospective groom, and to Dottie Mysiek, Bernice Sloss, Barbara Dombronsky, Gladys Wiesehan, Pauline Harp, Melanie Gavin, Mary Kenney, Sue Kaufman and daughter, Cheri.

Mesdames Louise Fletcher, Jean Mysiek, Gina Hasty, Joyce Pittenger, Frances Alessandrelli, Catherine Manno, Josephine Richardson, Pam Medlin, Dorothy Harrison, Ruby Stricker, Laverne Rapp, Mesdames Roy Mueller, Betty Scrum, Doris Tarris, Ann Kuensler, Nancy Boyer and Maureen Shelley Jones, Carol Dombronsky, Tracy Vaughn, Pearl Reuter and Patsy Mayfield.

Madison club plans projects

Madison Ladies Democratic Club members discussed various projects to be sponsored during the coming months at a meeting held Monday evening at the Sportsman's Club.

Members voted to purchase 10 tickets for a benefit baseball game in St. Louis, sponsored by Ainslie Shrine Temple this month.

Plans were reviewed for the club's annual fish fry and pork steak dinner in August.

The president Mrs. Minnie Brown, reported area nursing homes are in need of small prizes to be used when residents are participating in recreational games. Each member was asked to bring a gift to the next meeting for delivery to the Colonades and Colonial Haven nursing homes.

Club members accepted the amended bylaws, to become effective immediately.

EPA files 'agreed' suit as part of steel pact

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency Tuesday filed a major air pollution enforcement case against the Granite City Steel division of National Steel Corp., which EPA officials disclosed today is part of an agreement between the steel company and the state.

An official of the EPA enforcement division in Springfield told the Press-Record this morning that the charges being filed—which deal with alleged violations in the coke oven and basic oxygen furnace departments—are designed to bring a $17.5 million agreement between the EPA and the steel company, in front of the Illinois Pollution Control Board.

Only the IPCB can issue an enforceable order on pollution cases and a violation of existing pollution laws must be alleged before a case can be brought before the IPCB, the spokesman explained.

He noted that Granite City Steel officials were aware of the enforcement case was to be filed and had agreed to each charge. Granite City Steel also has agreed to make a voluntary contribution of $75,000 to the state as part of the agreement, the EPA official commented.

A 43-page agreement was filed with the EPA and Granite City Steel which calls for pollution control equipment and changes totaling $11,000,000 to the coke plant, $5,700,000 to the basic oxygen furnace shop, and $2,500,000 to the boiler plant.

The agreement also permits a prompt start on construction of a fourth slab re-heat furnace at the local steel plant.

The enforcement action filed Tuesday alleges violations at the coke oven division, including creating a nuisance, operating a pollution source without an operating permit, violating smoke density rules and violating rules pertaining to charging, pushing and quenching.

Alleged violations at the basic oxygen furnace are, creating a nuisance, operating without an operating permit, violating smoke density rules and exceeding the allowable levels of particulate emissions.

Both facilities also are charged with failure to have an

Post 435 plans baseball tryouts

American Legion Post 435, Glen Carbon, will conduct two days of baseball tryouts Tuesday and Wednesday, May 11 and 12, for players desiring to join the summer league team on the Pebling Road diamond west of Nameoki Road at 5 p.m. both days.

Potential team members must be of high school age, and cannot reach the age of 19 before Aug. 1.

Post 435, a member of the American Legion District 22 league, has 33 games slated for the 1976 season, which begins May 30.

Ron Madden and Art Jovi, Post 435 coaches, note also that the club will host a 16-team double-elimination tournament July 24 through Aug. 1 at GCHS North diamonds. Team entry deadline for the tournament has been set for June 10. Jovi may be contacted at 876-6175.

The Legion league will include Tricity Pres. 113, which also has entered the Post 435 approved compliance program and project completion schedule.

It is hoped the IPCB will consider the violations and will accept the Feb. 23 agreement as the solution to the violations, thus issuing an order that the company comply with the terms of the agreement.

Legal opinion supports Chouteau board action

A written legal opinion was read to the Chouteau Town Board of Auditors at its regular meeting Monday night which supported the action the board took at its previous meeting when Highway Commissioner James Estes was asked to sign an affidavit on labor bills before the board agreed to pay the bills.

Alan Walker, one of the township's attorneys, offered the written opinion in response to questions by the township auditors whether Estes may be required to sign affidavits before the auditors approved highway bills for work or materials of which they questioned the necessity. At the previous meeting,

Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks alleged Estes had been using township employees and equipment to improve private property when there was no legal justification. Estes disagreed, saying he was borrowing dirt from the property to help improve a ditch which drains township roads. After a lengthy discussion, the board requested Estes to sign an affidavit that the work was necessary for the drainage of roads. He signed the document and the board approved the labor bills, but requested a written legal opinion for possible future cases.

Walker's opinion Monday evening said the board has the power to examine all accounts submitted for audit and each auditor has the responsibility and power to exercise his own judgment and determine if a claim is properly chargeable against the town.

Each may "determine if the expense is reasonably necessary for the use and benefit of the town," Walker stated.

The auditors may require an account to be verified by an affidavit setting forth that the charge is for the use and benefit of the town, he continued. He noted an affidavit is a sworn statement and if not true could subject the person signing it to criminal prosecution. The board also has the power to question the amount of each charge and may require any charge be verified by affidavit or the auditors could select to seek more information on the charge. Any charge submitted by the highway commissioner or by any township official may be approved or may be rejected on the basis it is not for the use and benefit of the town, he concluded.

The board also received a legal opinion from Walker that the Town Board of Auditors has the authority to hire an auditing firm to conduct the annual audit of the highway commissioner's books.

Estes had wanted to hire an auditor separate from the township's auditing firm, but the town board decided to hire one firm for all of the township's books.

The board also discussed preparing its planned use report for upcoming federal revenue sharing funds and decided to continue to earmark all revenue sharing funds toward the future construction of a combination town hall and community center building.

It was noted the board's regular meeting date of May 31 is on Memorial Day and the board voted to change that meeting date to Tuesday, June 1. The next regular meeting will be at 7 p.m. Monday, May 17, at the town offices, 825 Thorgate Drive, Mitchell.

The board adjourned Monday night's meeting and returned Tuesday night for the regular joint meeting of the board and its Community Development Committee.

Construction and furnishing of the proposed township building was the primary item of discussion. Since a combination of federal revenue sharing and Community Development grant funds are being used to construct the building, joint meetings are held monthly to coordinate planning.

Mrs. Betty Lavelle, chairman of a Bicentennial fund-raising project to help furnish the new building, distributed letters of introduction and identification materials to volunteers who are beginning the fund raising drive.

Contributions and pledges are being solicited door-to-door in the township to help furnish the building. Mrs. Lavelle set a date of Sept. 1 for all money to be collected.

Plans are to place the names of larger contributors on a bronze Bicentennial plaque which will remain on permanent display in the community center building.

Business also are being encouraged to contact the township to make contributions. Prices obtained on tables and chairs were discussed and committee members agreed to begin pricing the different kinds of equipment and furnishings desired in the center's kitchen area.

A joint decision was reached to seek bids in the future on a 60 by 100 foot building, 20 feet longer than the initial plans.

Now proposed is a 20 by 60 foot area for township offices and a 60 by 80 foot area for the community center. Dances, receptions, club meetings and other gatherings are planned for the center when it is completed.

ORDINANCE CHALLENGE This is the magazine rack at one establishment Monday. A new Pontoon Beach village ordinance is patterned after one in Belleville which is being used to ban the sale of Playboy, Penthouse, Hustler and other magazines. Some village officials have indicated the ordinance was not passed to ban the sale of magazines, but it is worded to make such sales or possession hazardous.

Comment—Broad laws leave public vulnerable

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

The Press-Record recently has questioned the wisdom of the Pontoon Beach Village Board action in passing an anti-obscenity ordinance to ban even such books as Playboy from sale in the village.

Village officials in turn have expressed displeasure with the reaction, saying the ordinance is not going to be enforced in such a way as to restrict the sale or delivery of Playboy and similar magazines.

The village official recently commented that the anti-obscenity ordinance was prepared after the board heard rumors a businessman was considering placing a movie house to show X-rated films in a vacant store. He said the ordinance is designed to keep that from happening.

Rather than taking the example of Granite City, which passed an ordinance simply prohibiting the showing of X-rated movies within the city limits, Village Attorney Paul Guzzardo used an ordinance being put to the test in Belleville as the example upon which to base the village's new ordinance.

The Belleville ordinance has led to arrests and convictions of persons offering Playboy and other magazines for sale.

While there has been much discussion about the Pontoon Beach anti-obscenity ordinance, few have taken the time to study the actual document, which seems to take a "sledge-hammer" approach to stamping out X-rated movies in the village.

The ordinance outlaws the sale, delivery, distribution, publishing, printing, exhibiting or possession with intent to distribute "any obscene writing, picture, moving picture record or other representation or embodiment of the obscene, or to present or to direct an obscene play or other performance, or to perform an obscene act or otherwise present an obscene exhibition or to advertise or otherwise promote obscene material."

The definition of obscene that is given is "if the average person would find that the work taken as a whole appeals to a prurient interest, and the work depicts or describes patently offensive representations or descriptions."

It specifies that "patently offensive representations or descriptions of nude persons" is among things outlawed. The ordinance is so broad that enforcement "to the letter" might result in barring mailmen from delivering the monthly copies from subscriptions to Playboy and other magazines.

Even if the present Village Board is not considering using the ordinance to prohibit Playboy and similar publications, allowing the law to remain in effect leaves the tool available for future administrations to use it on a "selective" basis, against businessmen or individuals who may express political differences or have other disagreements with the politicians in power at any particular time.

While the board may not intend to use the ordinance to halt the sale of certain magazines at this time, it would be within the law to fine anyone found guilty of that offense up to $500 at any time the village decided to enforce the ordinance.

Pontoon Beach village officials may feel the Press-Record is "making a mountain out of a molehill" on this issue, but this molehill has the potential to mushroom into a mountain whenever village

Amend licensing of cigarette machines in GC

An ordinance amendment under which any individual operating two or more cigarette vending machines would be classified as a "distributor" and required to pay a $500 license fee was approved by the Granite City Council Monday night.

The action changes the city's vending machine laws which originally provided that an individual could operate more than one machine upon payment of a license fee for each machine so long as the machines were located in his own place of business. The fee for each machine, in addition to payment of the $500 distributor license, is $750.

Under the amendment, however, a business operator with his own machines located in his own place of business, and required to pay the $500 fee, if he operates more than one machine.

More than $600 in coins were taken from the home of Don Caughron, 2871 Madison Ave., he told authorities at 3:50 p.m. Tuesday. A basement window was broken and a door leading upstairs was forced open to gain entry. The coins consisted of quarters, dimes, nickels and pennies.

Officials chose to enforce it. Adopting a broad ordinance and then enforcing parts of it to suit the wishes of the board at the time runs against the accepted form of lawmaking in this country.

Think how much money taxpayers could save if we would abolish our state lawmaking process and establish a "Thou shalt do no wrong" law—and then let each set of local authorities enforce it as they see fit.

New school photo service

Despite what was described as "excellent service for more than 20 years," by Hollywood Andrews Photo Studio of Granite City, the Granite City Board of Education voted Tuesday night to employ the Portrait Division of Famous Barr Co., St. Louis, as official photographer for the school district during the 1976-77 school year.

Price quotations were sought by the school administration from several photography firms and three quotations were returned. Hollywood Andrews, Famous Barr and Butcher Community Photo Service of Fenton, Mo.

The quotations were reviewed by the Student Picture Committee of the school district, which prepared a recommendation for the Board of Education.

Members of that committee were: James Dunson, principal of GCHS South; Mike Sikora, principal at Coolidge Junior High School; Richard Ault, principal at Marshall Elementary School; Lee Reid, principal of Frohardt Elementary School, and Dale C. Res, assistant to the superintendent of the school district.

The committee noted that Hollywood Andrews has given "excellent service and maintained an amicable relationship with all school personnel. It is not likely that an out-of-town photographer can match the service which they have provided."

Despite this, the reported noted, "The committee feels, however, that in several instances, cost differences are too great to disregard."

It explained Hollywood Andrews required 35 cents per student identification card while the other bidders offered them free.

Hollywood Andrews would charge each high school student $3.50 for the yearbook and composite picture which Famous Barr also offered free. Famous Barr's prices also were from $3 to $5 lower on packages of pictures to students than Hollywood Andrews, and Famous Barr pledged to have proofs available within a week, go 10 days of the sitting and finished prints within three weeks of ordering, which would permit all senior pictures to be taken in the fall, the committee noted.

Famous Barr officials indicated senior photos will be taken at a studio set up in each school, if the board requests. Otherwise, they will be taken at the downtown St. Louis store.

The committee estimated the free identification cards would save students a total of $1,200 to $1,400 per year and the free yearbook and composite photos would save students a total of about $2,800.

Board members commented they were reluctant to discontinue the use of Hollywood Andrews, due to its responsiveness to photo requests and the many years of excellent service, but felt obligated to award the contract to Famous Barr for a one-year trial, due to the savings to parents and students. The vote was unanimous.

Warriors double their pleasure in Greenville games

GCSS South's baseball nine won both ends of a twinnin Tuesday at Greenville, 7-5 and 5-0.

Pitchers Paul Evans and Tony Stajduhar now have 41 records on the mound.

Having gone the distance Tuesday, Evans pitched the opening contest and fanned eight batters, walking seven. Stajduhar struck out 16 opponents and hurled a two-hitter.

Greenville led 4-0 after six innings of the first contest. South rallied to score seven runs in the final inning, and the hosts added one in the bottom of the seventh.

The Warriors' final inning started when Jay Cedor singled and Mike Clark, Keith Champion and Jeff Scarborough drew walks.

Eldon Warfield reached base on an error. Paul Evans tripled

Baseball district competition begins

The long climb up the ladder to a possible 1976 Illinois High School Association baseball state title starts today for area teams at 11 district sites, including the Collinsville district.

Collinsville pairings involve Madison, GCSS North and South, in contests at the Greenwood Campus.

Other district meets are being held at Belleville East, Cahokia, Lebanon, Alton, New Athens, Carlyle, Livingston, Sparta, Gillespie and Hardin.

On Saturday, competition resumes with GCSS North, 5-16 record, playing Edwardsville at 10 a.m., followed by a 1 p.m. Saturday game between GCSS South, now 18-8-1, and the winner of today's game.

South rallies for 7-1 baseball win over North squad

GCSS South and GCSS North clashed on the baseball diamond at Wilson Park yesterday to decide the overall champion of a round-robin tournament started nearly two weeks ago. South won 7-1.

Both Granite City schools had competed in the tourney with schools from Johnston City, Ill., and Tiptonville, Ark. North and South winning two games each against no losses. The deciding contest was rescheduled due to darkness.

North's Steelers went ahead in the opening inning yesterday when Richard Schmidt singled, advanced on a wild pitch and came home on Kevin Hayes' single.

Warrior hurler Rick Fancher, who usually performs as a relief pitcher, started on the mound when Randy Lyerla was unable to return from a school trip to Springfield in time for the opener. He arrived in the second inning and relieved Fancher in the fourth for the win.

Fancher fanned four batters and Lyerla eight.

The Steelers threatened to stretch their lead in the fifth with the bases loaded. But a double play by South retired the side.

South got the tying run and added six more, all in the sixth inning.

Eldon Warfield singled, Mike Clark reached on an error, Paul Evans and Randy Smith both singled and Jim Cedor reached on an error before Tom Henrich doubled, Keith Champion and Jeff Scarborough drew walks and Warfield singled.

North utilized three pitchers on the mound — Larry Schleicher, who started, Chris Page, for two innings, and Mike Germancorn.

Collecting hits for South were Warfield and Henrich (two each) and Evans, Scarborough, Ed Prazma and Smith.

Hits for North were by Schmidt (two) and Hayes, Don Walton, Jody Failoni and Jim Goodyear.

Ashby helps Cougars top Bears 10-1

Coach Roy E. Lee's Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville baseball team ran over the Washington University Bears, 10-1, in St. Louis Tuesday afternoon and in the process upped the Cougars' record to the magic 20-game winning mark, against 14 defeats.

The Cougars received effective pitching performances by Jerry Deml, the winner and starter, and relievers Dennis Reinhardt and Granite Cityan Steve Ashby.

Deml's victory upped his record to 3-3. He permitted the Bears three scratch hits and no runs, fanned five and walked none. Washington's run, scored against Ashby in the eighth frame, was unearned.

Lee's lads collected 14 hits, including two homers (one by Tim Twissman and one by Dave Schaeke), a triple by Don Lange and a double by John Urban.

Mitchell baseball parade Saturday

More than 200 Mitchell area boys and girls will participate at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Mitchell Athletic Club's third annual season-opening baseball parade. The club's 1976 queen will receive her crown in ceremonies at the Mitchell diamonds.

Miss Karen Norris, 16, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John (Patricia) Norris, 133 Big Four Place, Mitchell, will reign over the 1976 season after being crowned by the 1975 queen, Pam Pritchard.

Assisting Miss Pritchard during the ceremonies will be Mike Shannon, sportscaster and former major league baseball player, and Dal Maxwell, World Series veteran formerly from Granite City.

Attending the new queen will be Miss Debbie Wicks, 16, and Carol Douglas, 17, both of Mitchell.

Gordon Routh, parade chairman, notes that the parade will begin at Mitchell Grade School and move east along Chain of Rocks Road in Mitchell to Greenway Drive and then south two blocks to the baseball diamonds. Officials will speak to the players, aged 6-16, and will observe the coronation ceremony before exhibition contests are played.

The club's regular 1976 season is scheduled to begin on May 22.

Harry Breckner is president of the club and Myron Merz is athletic director.

The parade will be led by Madison County Sheriff John Maers, followed by units of the Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department, a color guard of Boy Scout Troop 41, an 18-piece band from Musicians' Local 717, the Almed Shrine Rolling Nobles and Compact Unit and the Free Spirits Citizen Band Radio Club of America, of which Floyd Waters of Mitchell is president.

Units in the parade will be Willard "Butch" Portell, clerk of the Madison County Circuit Court, State Representative Joe Lupo, State Senator Sam Vadalabene and B. J. Davis, superintendent of the Granite City community unit school district.

New lighting for GC athletic field

R. Dron Electrical Co. was awarded a $42,475 contract by the Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night to install new lights and light poles at the Granite City Memorial Stadium on the Granite City High School South campus.

Tully A. Heubner, director of business affairs for the school district, told the board that present stadium field lights are inadequate and unsafe.

He noted that three lights exploded and hot glass fell last year near spectators. Heubner also said the crews which change the light bulbs decide to climb the poles, saying they are not safe.

"I am not sure of the age of the lights, but they were removed from the old field and placed on the present field in 1954," he said, adding, "For the safety of both players and spectators, new lighting for the football field should be considered."

The contract calls for removal of the existing 10 poles and replacing them with three new poles on each side of the field behind the bleachers.

Each pole will have eight 1,500-watt light fixtures for a total of 48 lights. There also will be six quartz light fixtures for security.

The new lights will be about three times as bright as the present lights.

All wiring will be buried underground and there will be new wiring, a new service pole, a new transformer, lighting panel, electric supply to the public address system and new telephone cables.

All overhead cables will be removed except those to the concession stand.

May 14 deadline to file for deer hunting permit

State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, is reminding his constituents that May 14 is the deadline for deer hunting permits to be filed with the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Vadalabene said filing for shotgun permits opened May 3; applications should be mailed to: Illinois Department of Conservation, Deer Permit Office, 605 State Office Building, Springfield, Ill. 62706.

The senator explained that applicants should give their full name, address and counties for hunting. The $5 fee is payable by check or money order.

No more than six applicant names will be accepted in one envelope or over the counter, Vadalabene pointed out, and an applicant may submit only one application for himself.

On May 17, a public drawing will be held to determine the allocation of permits.

Vadalabene stressed that if applicants miss the May 14 deadline, there is no way they will be able to receive a deer permit for the 1976 deer hunting season.

Revised noise rule for auto tracks proposed

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has submitted proposed revisions of the state's Motor Vehicle Noise Regulation (175-111) to the Pollution Control Board, which, if accepted, may ease requirements for state-wide tracks, including the Tri-City Speedway and St. Louis International Raceway here.

The present regulation provides noise guidelines for four aspects of motorports: stock car racing, drag racing, motorcycle racing and motorcycle racing.

Basic rules were drafted in 1973 after complaints were filed against the Rockford, Ill., Speedway.

Tracks were to adhere to a 51-decibel limit on noise emission at the track property line or face a fine of up to $10,000.

In addition to the fine, violators of the noise pollution law could be penalized $1,000 for each day of illegal noise.

The motorsport industry formed a lobbying group in the Illinois Association of Motorsports and obtained postponement of the regulation's effective date until Aug. 10, 1975.

An extension of that date was granted to state-wide tracks until Feb. 15 of this year, allowing them to conduct their 1975 racing season and also attempt to formulate plans for compliance with the law.

Race track promoters wrote to the PCB seeking permission for another continuing which would have allowed existing racing programs without fear of violating state rules.

When written permission was not received, most tracks decided to open anyway and perhaps force the issue into court.

Meanwhile, the EPA and PCB are divided as to whether car race tracks should be governed by the regulation.

We do not want race tracks included in this regulation, just like we would not want airports included, says Bob Hellweg, an EPA representative in Springfield.

There should be different standards for race tracks than for commercial and industrial property.

Race tracks are not enclosed property, he added. "You can't close a window on the noise."

He is a manager of the EPA's Noise Technical Operations Section, Division of Land Use and Pollution Control.

The section reviewed the proposal, submitted during the weekend.

Major proposed revisions include the inclusion of a stationary test to measure vehicle sound emissions, a staggered set of the effectiveness requirements for mufflers on drag racing vehicles and oval racing vehicles.

Also replacing the current American Motorcycle Association sound level testing procedure with a test method utilized previously by the AMA, and inclusion of an exemption for a limited number of special events in which a large number of out-of-state racing vehicles are competing.

use mufflers but no reduction in noise would be necessary for the first 12 months.

Between 12 and 36 months from the regulation's effective date, a 51-decibel reduction would be required. After 36 months, a 44 to 46-decibel reduction would be required and no reductions would be necessary after that period.

Drag racing vehicles would have all sound-level measurements made with the microphone one-half meter from the exhaust outlet, with the engine gearbox in neutral and an engine speed of 4,000 revolutions per minute.

Motorcycles would be measured with the microphone located a half-meter away in the horizontal plane of the rear-most exhaust outlet at an angle of 45 degrees behind the exhaust outlet. The engine would be run with the gearbox in neutral at an engine speed equal to half of the manufacturer's recommended maximum engine speed.

Unlike drag racing vehicles and oval track racing stock cars, motorcycles are required to have mufflers which would not be allowed to operate if sound emissions when measured in the above procedures exceeded 115 decibels.

Stock cars would have their noise emissions measured in the same manner as drag racing vehicles.

Hellweg said his department's proposal would eliminate the present requirement of measuring a track's noise emission level at the property line.

The EPA proposal exempts motor racing facilities which conduct motor racing events less than five days per calendar year.

It also exempts from state regulation noise control any drag racing and oval track facility if there are no residential dwellings within two miles of the facility's racing surface.

Most race track operators commended the proposal and expressed the belief that area tracks can comply with its requirements.

Drag racing vehicles would have all sound-level measurements made with the microphone one-half meter from the exhaust outlet, with the engine gearbox in neutral and an engine speed of 4,000 revolutions per minute.

Motorcycles would be measured with the microphone located a half-meter away in the horizontal plane of the rear-most exhaust outlet at an angle of 45 degrees behind the exhaust outlet. The engine would be run with the gearbox in neutral at an engine speed equal to half of the manufacturer's recommended maximum engine speed.

Unlike drag racing vehicles and oval track racing stock cars, motorcycles are required to have mufflers which would not be allowed to operate if sound emissions when measured in the above procedures exceeded 115 decibels.

Stock cars would have their noise emissions measured in the same manner as drag racing vehicles.

Hellweg said his department's proposal would eliminate the present requirement of measuring a track's noise emission level at the property line.

The EPA proposal exempts motor racing facilities which conduct motor racing events less than five days per calendar year.

It also exempts from state regulation noise control any drag racing and oval track facility if there are no residential dwellings within two miles of the facility's racing surface.

Most race track operators commended the proposal and expressed the belief that area tracks can comply with its requirements.

Motorcycle races on half-mile track Sunday

For the first time in nearly six years, American Motorcycle Association riders will compete at Tri-City Speedway on the half-mile dirt oval, during a sanctioned professional racing program Sunday beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The program is expected to attract many of the nation's top notch riders, including such short-track champions as Guy McClure of Fort Worth, Texas, Mike Kidd, also of Texas, Danny Kirkland of Millstadt, Ill., Randy Creek of Shawnee, Okla., Mike Caves of Galesburg, Ill., and Mike Gerald of Louisiana.

McClure, a former Texas state champion at the age of 21, is considered to be one of the foremost competitors in short-track (quarter-mile) competition. He was a 1973 titlist at Tri-City.

Kidd, 22, is a six-year veteran of professional competition. During his amateur days, he captured three Texas state titles, including one in motorcycle road racing.

Mike Kidd enters Sunday's event fresh from capturing after this week a half-mile regional race at Jerseyville, Ill., where more than 200 riders competed.

Kirkland, now 19, is in his third year of competing and last season rode to Tri-City's short-track championship.

The local speedway's 1976 regular weekly racing program on the smaller track is slated to start Tuesday, June 1.

SECOND GRADERS of Niedringhaus School combine their efforts to entertain at a PTA program given at the school. Each of the three second grade classes presented a skit, a choral reading and group singing, all with a Bicentennial theme. The flags in the background were made of crepe paper and plastic strips used as can carriers. Teachers arranging the program were Mrs. Linda Koenig, Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards and Mrs. Mary Jacobs.

HISTORY OF AMERICA is presented in a choral pageant at Dunbar elementary school in 13 numbers, opening with "The Star Spangled Banner" and closing with "America The Beautiful." Bernard Long, principal of the school, closed the program with comments on the Bicentennial year. Willard Owens, a sixth grader, far right, narrated the program. Members of the sixth grade are pictured singing a song on the Revolutionary War period, "Are You for Independence?"

Hearing on vocational education

A public hearing on the proposed state plan for vocational and technical education in Illinois for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1976, will be held next week in Springfield.

The plan, required by the federal government, outlines how $20 million in federal funds will be spent in Illinois. Copies are available for inspection at Illinois Office of Education locations in Springfield, Chicago, Mt. Vernon and DeKalb, and at the Superintendent of Educational Service Region's office in Urbana.

The public hearing is scheduled for 10 a.m. Tuesday, May 11, in conference room 6 on the fifth floor of the Illinois Office of Education Building, 100 N. 1st St., Springfield.

Preregistration is not necessary; participants can register on the day of the hearing.

Each person will be limited to five minutes for oral testimony. A written copy of testimony presented is required.

The state plan, a contractual agreement between the state and the federal government, details how funds will be allocated in Illinois and how the state will respond to federal mandates. It was developed by the Illinois Office of Education.

2nd aluminum collection point

A second collection point has been established in Granite City for the nation's largest consumer program of aluminum recycling, and a change in dates has been announced for the collection stops which started last fall at the Nameki Village Shopping Center.

Clifford W. Pool, manager of the Reynolds Aluminum recycling plant in Belleville, said a mobile reclamation unit will begin making regularly scheduled public collection stops at Vesci, Inc., a beer distributorship located at the intersection of Highways 111 and State Aid 35.

Groups and individuals may redeem their aluminum at Vesci from noon until 3 p.m. on the second and fourth Saturdays of each month, with stops this month set for May 8 and May 22.

Pool said collection stops will continue to be made at the Nameki Village Shopping Center, but with a new schedule of dates and times. The unit will be at Nameki Village from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. on the first and third Thursdays of each month, with collections this month set for today and May 20.

At both locations, the public will be paid 15 cents per pound for all-aluminum cans and other clean household aluminum, such as pie plates, aluminum foil, frozen food and dinner trays, dip, pudding and meat containers.

Other items, including aluminum siding, gutters, aluminum storm door and window frames, and lawn furniture tubing are also worth 15 cents per pound if properly prepared. Such aluminum must be free of all foreign materials, should be cut to lengths not exceeding three feet and should not be mixed with aluminum cans.

In addition to the mobile unit stops in Granite City, aluminum may be redeemed at the Reynolds plant in Belleville, 110 Iowa St., from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Vocational education in Illinois has been on the increase for the last eight years, and projections show continued growth for at least the next five years.

Currently, the state has 68,027 students in vocational programs. Total state, federal and local dollars to be spent on vocational education next year are estimated at $225 million.

Pontoon Beach awards banquet

The first annual fund-raising awards banquet for Explorer Post 255, sponsored by the Pontoon Beach Police Department, will be held at 6 p.m. Sunday, May 16, at the Long Lake Fire Hall, 4113 Pontoon Road.

Dinner meet to decide fate of club

A "last chance" potluck dinner, the success of which may be essential to the continuation of the East Side Singles Club, is to be held at the Long Lake Fire Department Hall on Pontoon Road in Pontoon Beach Tuesday evening.

The group, which has been meeting in Edwardsville, but which also served the Quad-City area, is moving its meetings to Pontoon Beach in hopes of attracting new members.

"If no new interest is shown Tuesday evening, this will be the final meeting, and that would be a shame," a club spokesman said.

He noted the club was formed for single persons, 21 and older, to offer them an alternative to going only to nightclubs or churches to meet other single people.

"This is something we have to offer single people—a mid-ground between nightclubs and churches—where singles can meet others in an atmosphere of fellowship and friendship," the spokesman said.

Anyone single and 21 or older is invited to attend the potluck and members are encouraged to bring friends. Anyone playing a musical instrument is invited to bring it and join in a musical session.

Those attending should bring a covered dish and refreshments. Further information on the club is available from Pat Norton at 877-1274 or by calling 1-866-3566.

There is a two-fold purpose to the dinner, according to Donald Patrick, adviser to Post 255. "We would like to thank a few of the numerous persons that have helped us during our first year to get started, and second to make some money to continue our activities."

The dinner is open to the public and tickets at $5 each may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Mary Warren at 931-0963. Persons wishing to attend are asked to purchase tickets by Monday.

The event will be catered by Volski catering of Madison. Persons to be honored include: State Trooper John Lybarger, W. F. "Mick" Strange, Madison Police Officer Donald Bridick, Paul Bennett, Larry Ernie, Chris Kieffer, Harry Laughlin, Robert Carroll, Edgar Patrick, Burt Litzelman, Eric Wilson, Vic Neece.

Loot storage shed

Items valued at $1,438 and a motorcycle were stolen from the storage shed at the home of Ray Hancock, 3009 National Ave., it was reported Monday. The motorcycle later was found by Madison police in the Maeras Industrial Park.

Also stolen were a riding lawnmower, a chainsaw and a jigsaw, an electric saw, tools and a tool chest and cabinet.

20-point Kochman plan stresses problem solving

A 20-point program aimed at providing "a favorable environment for problem-solving and improving the quality of life" at SIUE was announced Tuesday by the university's acting president, Andrew J. Kochman.

He made the announcement after completing a series of seven meetings over a two-week period with constituent groups on the campus at Edwardsville, Alton and East St. Louis. In most of the meetings, he was accompanied by the four chief administrative officers.

"From our dialogues with students, faculty and staff, we have concluded that there are no problems too difficult for resolution if we attack them openly and as a team, dedicated to the growth and development of the university," Kochman said.

The acting president said he believes the first step in problem-solving is "keeping the lines of communication open. In this regard, my door will be open to all who have genuine concerns and a sincere desire to work for improvements."

Kochman said the second item in his 20-point program is to boost the morale of the university community by working for salary and wage increases which will "place university employees on a par with other state employees and keep pace with inflation."

Other points in the acting president's program include: —Make the Affirmative Action program "as good in practice as it is on paper." —Give more attention to planning, through the University Senate, President's Advisory Council and University Administrative Council.

—Improve advisement and counseling for students, effect better coordination of counseling and academic advisement programs.

—Support the Undergraduate Program Review as proposed by the University Senate.

—Push student recruitment and promote the university's ability to appeal to prospective students.

—Provide "an open and equitable climate for dialogue on collective bargaining and other questions of concern to faculty and staff."

—Develop instructional resources, particularly the graduate collection in Loyole Library, computer-assisted instruction and other instructional technologies, and provide assistance in curriculum design.

—Support continued development of the university's growing research faculty.

—Review and evaluate off-campus programs.

—Develop a comprehensive environmental education program through the new Institute for Urban and Regional Studies, with particular emphasis on the problems of East St. Louis.

—Tighten tuition increases.

—Continue bus services at lowest possible costs.

—Develop service programs which will interface with area communities, both urban and rural.

—Strive for construction of a physical education and athletic training facility.

—Develop a long-range capital development plan, including facilities for the School of Dental Medicine, the School of Nursing and the School of Fine Arts and Communications.

—Reduce administrative costs through reallocation and attrition, filling vacant positions only when absolutely necessary.

—Urge state legislation to fully fund the requirements of the university's employee retirement program. Dr. Kochman, who was appointed acting president by the SIUE Board of Trustees in March after the death of President John S. Rendleman on March 4, said he believes the program is vital to the mission of SIUE if a solid foundation for the permanent administration of the institution is to be maintained.

Unusual spring plagues gardens

By CHRIS DOLL Area Garden Advisor

Spring 1976 has been a vigorous Early plant development, light rainfall and late freezes have caused light frost crops and sub-standard vegetable gardens. Early May finds us with the following gardening situations:

Many tree fruits are dropping. This is due to early blossoming poor pollination weather, now vigor trees possibly insect injury, and/or late freeze injury.

There is nothing you can do to keep the fruit on the tree except keep insect injury to a minimum by spraying the fruit with weak trees can be treated with a fertilizer treatment. A heavy purpose spray will protect remaining fruit from insects and diseases.

Rhubarb plants are blooming. The natural development has caused this spring but to insure that for best yield, keep the flower heads out so that growth is forced into the leaves and stalks. Rhubarb can be eaten after cold temperatures if no injury symptoms are visible.

Planting time for warm season vegetables. Early May is the normal season for planting peppers, beans, squash, pumpkins, and sweet potatoes. Many of these crops that were planted in April have required protection from weather or else have been lost. Plant now for growth should be normal.

Transplants need water. Weather (free, small fruit or vegetable) new plants need adequate water for good root development. Soil moisture content in many areas is low, so add water where and when it is needed.

Strawberries have black spots. Repeated frosts and freezes have killed many of the strawberry flowers so that only the dead flower base remains. An optimum yield from the surviving flowers keep the patch weeded and sprayed with a fungicide (Capitan or Ventol) at weekly intervals. This will keep diseases from destroying the remaining crop.

Many vegetable plants are overcropped. They need adequate space for optimum development. Thin lettuce, tomato, lettuce, carrots, greens and turnips to the spacing you dictated on the seed package or handbook.

Some insects are hungry. Flea beetles (little black or gray insects that jump and hide from you) are on radishes, sweet corn and potatoes and are waiting for eggplant. Cutworms are waiting for beans or your transplants. Watch for these pests and treat with carbaryl or diazinon according to the label on the package.

Repeat plantings now extend the harvest season later. Crops such as cabbage, sweet corn, beans, kohlrabi and radishes have short harvest periods and this can be extended by making more plantings. Sweet corn is best planted every week for continuous harvest during the summer.

Another method to extend harvest is to plant several varieties with different maturity dates. This works well with cabbage and sweet corn.

Forgery charged

Granite City police arrested Glenn Harrell, 26, of St. Louis, Tuesday, charging him with three counts of forgery in connection with the cashing of 15 Granite City payroll checks at the First National Bank here on Jan. 30.

He was released to Madison County authorities after bond totaling $30,000 was set. Authorities alleged that Harrell, an employee of the steel firm, was one of three persons who cashed the checks, worth a total of $4,000, and then fled the bank when he could not produce proper identification upon request. All of the checks are believed to have been stolen either from the mail or from the steel firm's payroll department.

Local authorities are continuing investigation of the matter, and are seeking two black persons believed to have been with Harrell in the bank.

RADIO STOLEN
An AM-FM radio, no value given, was taken from the auto of Ken Wyatt, 2341 Edison Ave. It was reported at 3:45 p.m. Tuesday. Considerable damage to the auto's dash and air conditioner also occurred. Entry was gained by breaking a side window.

Madison business progress topic at breakfast meeting

The City of Madison can move forward, stay as it is, or regress, but if the City Council and Mayor Mike Sasyk have their way, with the help of the business community a new look soon will be seen in Madison.

A breakfast meeting held Tuesday at 8 a.m. was attended by business leaders. Mayor Sasyk and representatives of the "Update" Corporation, a firm retained by the city to plan improvements for the business areas.

"We currently have a city of 7,000 people, 167 businesses doing $15,600,000 in business a year and now we have to evaluate just where we go from here," Mayor Sasyk said in his opening remarks.

"We can stay as we are or we can improve ourselves and by doing so bring even more business into our area."

"I don't buy the negative approach, so if we can become united, fix up our businesses and get involved, we can and will move forward," he added.

"I am looking for something that will make people want to come to Madison and shop. People drive through and really do not pay any attention to what they see. To make this plan work, as it has in several other cities similar to ours, we need to get the business people really involved," the mayor said.

"The City Council and administration can only do so much. The rest depends on the interest of the business community," Mayor Sasyk concluded as he introduced Alan Johnson of the Update Corporation.

Johnson explained that when his representatives were in Madison for three days two months ago and held several meetings in the fireman's hall, they had seven alternative themes.

The seven have been narrowed to three, based on talks with various merchants, townspeople and city officials, he said. Basically these are a western theme, early American and Victorian.

Johnson showed a series of slides of other areas that have used these three themes.

Several drawings of how Madison stores may look, following these various themes, were on display.

Johnson noted that much could be done with a relatively small investment by the merchants.

Mayor Sasyk closed the meeting saying, "We will want to meet again in two weeks. This will give the merchants time to study the various drawings and theme ideas. The representatives of Update will stay for while this morning to answer individual questions you may have concerning your business."

"I want to thank everyone for coming this morning and I know

New master degree program

The Illinois Board of Higher Education, meeting Tuesday at North Central College at Naperville, approved several proposals for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, including a master of science program in management systems, two proposals under the Higher Education Cooperation Act, and $322,530 for replacement of the apartments and equipment destroyed by fire at Tower Lake II on the campus March 23.

The BHE also approved $50,000 for expansion of water lines and road improvements at SIUE.

The master of science in management systems will be offered by the School of Business and will include courses in work systems analysis, information system design, decision making, and modeling. It will develop persons capable of designing, developing and implementing management systems.

The program is expected to serve about 15 students in the first year.

The proposals approved under the Higher Education Cooperation Act include participation by SIUE in a Bicentennial university and college program of the Illinois State Theater and continuation and expansion of the regional hunch on Interinstitutional Cooperation (CIC).

The theater program establishes a state touring group for this summer. The project seeks to develop an alliance of Illinois colleges and universities with a touring internship experience for talented students.

The 1976 summer group will perform for three days in five Illinois cities.

The BHE also allocated $25,000 for the project, which involves 13 other universities and colleges in addition to SIUE.

The CIC funding, in the amount of $22,000, provides support for the administrative program, increased communication among the participating institutions, and exploration of new program thrusts.

Funds approved for capital improvements at SIUE include $250,000 to repair damages to Building 526 at Tower Lake Apartments, and $72,530 for replacement of equipment destroyed in the fire.

The funds for rebuilding the apartments will be provided by insurance, and the equipment replacement funds will come from student fees and user charges. A federal grant and interest income will provide the $50,000 for campus site improvements.

'Hot line' proving effective—Howlett

Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett said today the toll-free "hot line" for taxpayers to call his office is handling more calls with fewer employees.

"We are doing more work with fewer personnel," he said. "Our total work force has dropped more than 12 per cent in my first 30 months in office."

"Although our payrolls have risen because of cost-of-living raises legislated for state employees, we have saved taxpayers nearly $13 million by doing the work with 511 fewer permanent employees."

"An example of growth in the workload in the hot line we put in so citizens could call us toll-free, with complaints or suggestions."

"When we took over, we removed public officials' photographs from our public facilities and replaced them with posters of the phone number."

"We put signs on counters and a postcard insert in the new Rules of the Road booklet urging citizens to write or phone in any complaints or suggestions."

"We tell them this: As taxpayers, you pay our salaries. You are entitled to prompt, courteous service. If you do not feel you have received that service please call me toll-free, at 800-262-6800."

"The toll-free line proved so popular we had to organize special recruitment and training programs for personnel to handle the calls."

"At one time, we had 17 employees assigned to the 800-line. We now have 10."

"The work has tapered off since the 1976 license plate rush, but each employee can handle more calls because of a more refined training method we started in March."

"Last year, the 800-line handled more than 200,000 calls — triple the volume of the previous year."

"In the first three months of this year, 61,415 calls were handled, as compared to 42,775 for the same period a year ago."

"With fewer but better-trained operators, we have almost eliminated busy signals and back-ups."

"Nine out of 10 callers with problems can obtain the answer direct from the operator who picks up the phone. If the answer is not immediately at hand, the operator tries to get it back to the caller within 24 hours," Howlett related.

"Courtesy is a necessary qualification for employment in this office. Lack of it is cause for discipline, even discharge. We have improved it with Operation Plus, a motivational program for employees."

"When we started our postcard mailer program in September 1973, respondents sent us two complaints for every compliment. But since July 1974, compliments have outnumbered complaints 10 to one."

"A second phase of Operation Plus has been prepared for our 3,600 employees, focusing on increased production and cost reduction."

"It will call attention to the tight financial condition of Illinois government, plus the effort to keep salaries up to meet inflation, and will show how to keep costs down by the most effective use of telephones, duplicating machines and management techniques."

"We have taken hundreds of steps to eliminate waste and duplication, provide more and better service, and make our office a model for the nation."

"Though much has been accomplished, much remains to be done. From day to day, we never relax our efforts to improve efficiency and economy in the secretary's office."

TEN INDUCTED BY SIGMA DELTA CHI

Ten mass communications majors at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been inducted into the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi, including Terrance Gabrich, Granite City. Membership in the oldest and largest of the journalism societies is limited to students in good academic standing who are committed to careers in print or broadcast journalism.

Mary Delach, editor of the campus daily newspaper, Aletheia, was honored at initiation ceremonies by the national headquarters at the outstanding SIUE journalism graduate this year. She lives in East St. Louis. Bill McFadin, president of the Southern Illinois professional chapter of the society, conducted the initiation ceremonies at a dinner meeting.

city emerged.

The streets were laid out in the customary gridiron arrangement, extending north-south and east-west, except one broad diagonal thoroughfare named Nidringhaus Avenue.

This diagonal street ran east and west from the stamping plant through the business center to a residential district in the opposite corner.

Nidringhaus Avenue was the only street with a formal name; the others bore numbers or letters of the alphabet.

Fourteen thousand trees were planted, sidewalks were put down, the streets were graded and culminated, and the water supply was provided.

A section was designated as a park and free sites were reserved for churches and schools in the potential residential area. There were to be few places of business and numerous restrictions on taverns.

The company built a hundred brick houses, half of which were double cottages, constructed on alternate lots so that the intervening space could be used for gardens.

Industrial sites were to be along the right of way of three "main roads" at the end.

A projected belt line encompassed the whole tract. The Allen or Yellow Line street railway was extended from the Venice Ferry Landing to the southern border of the proposed city, and a $100,000 (now $1,000,000) was expended between the Mitchell and Madison Levees.

The new embankment road required between Granite City and the Mississippi River. The establishment and development of Granite City were definitely and obviously planned at the outset of new large industrial centers.

In July, 1898, while the area remained with thousands of hammering the Pullman strike occurred.

The Pullman Company owned seven houses and shop of the town of Pullman, and the residents were merely employees of the company, depending upon the company, which was their landlord, grocer, butcher, baker, restaurateur, banker and undertaker.

It has been implied that the Pullman episode led to the founding of Granite City.

Although the Nidringhaus is known to have studied the Pullman affair closely, the burden of evidence indicates that he had no wish to imitate the town of Pullman or its owner's social philosophy.

On the contrary, the Nidringhaus were seen as enlightened employers.

Their record of labor-management relations was considered good.

Although various members of the Nidringhaus family owned and managed the realty company, the gas, light and fuel company, and one of the independent banks—and thus exercised wide influence—they did not use these powers to control the private lives of the workers and citizens of Granite City at no time was there anything but agreement between the company and the workers on the subject of civic importance.

Hayward, grandson of William, expressed the opinion that William was "something of a social philosopher and idealist, who chose to build a new town—one that was laid out by industry for industry, but eventually to be owned by the inhabitants themselves."

He said this at the city's 50th year festival Aug. 31, 1948.

Thus, Granite City is the only such city which, from the founding, was deliberately intended.

He said this at the city's 50th year festival Aug. 31, 1948.

Hayward Nidringhaus insisted that the founders' idea of how an industry should operate for new men should live did not include the setup of companies which owned everything, lock, stock and barrel, and practically controlled the lives of the workmen and their families.

Even in an industrial town, where the survival of industry might be necessary for the initial financing of the building of homes, stores, theaters, churches and schools, laying streets, installing sewers and utilities—even in such a city men should be able to own their own homes, to go into business for themselves, to elect the men who were to govern and police them, to run for office and get elected to buy where they pleased, and to move away without obligation to the company, all for which they worked.

There should be, there must be, a business, a social, an educational life which belonged to the masses of the people themselves. It was emphasized.

Downtown

past their stores increases business, he said, noting that what actually increases business is a great deal of walking traffic going past and browsing.

We will have new electric lighting downtown, he added.

The Granite City Bicentennial Commission is in the process of contracting with Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to have a large mural prepared, which will detail Granite City history, including its ethnic development.

Plans tentatively call for the large mural to be placed on the city hall lawn focusing downtown attention toward city hall, which we feel Sunday will be like a courthouse in the middle of downtown, he said.

Talks also have started to raise funds for a museum in the downtown area. A multi-level parking garage, also is a possibility which would solve the parking problem in downtown Granite City.

Madison County Board Member Daniel Patterly asked if the city can abolish parking meters in the downtown area and Strohmeyer noted that is a complicated problem.

He said he feels the city government will have to be compensated for the lost revenue before it would remove the parking meters.

Responding to claims people are shopping at shopping centers where they can park free for unlimited periods of time, Strohmeyer said:

"Parking in shopping centers is not free. Someone has to pay for those parking lots and the people who lease those stores pay for it and pass the costs along to their customers. You pay for the parking in higher prices," he contended.

Traffic flow is a major problem, he said, noting he does not feel more one-way streets is the answer. Part of the answer is to reroute traffic around the downtown area which does not plan to shop there, he said.

Carl Mathias, service area manager of Illinois Power Co. cited several studies of traffic flow which have been conducted. He said few of the resulting ideas have been implemented.

Strohmeyer disagreed, saying studies on traffic flow, analysis and other studies and recommendations all are being utilized in the present preparation of a Plan of Action for downtown Granite City.

What we are doing now is putting it all together in a kind of a master plan for downtown growth and development," he told the gathering.

Much of his time has been spent studying traffic flow, he noted, adding there are many problems but none which can not be overcome.

One of the major problems he cited was Nidringhaus Avenue which is on a diagonal and creates six-way intersections.

These intersections must be corrected and we have the cooperation of the city and the bank. First Granite City National Bank on this. That will be a beautiful area, Strohmeyer predicted.

He said the concept of huge shopping centers far away from downtown areas is changing and more businesses are locating in or near downtown centers.

Despite the problems, Strohmeyer said, Granite City has many positive things going for it, including pride of its people and businessmen.

The cooperation of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, an established downtown area with many flexible areas which can be used for improvements, and many other factors.

He questioned the wisdom of a proposed metered parking lot at 19th Street and Delmar Avenue, where the former Factory Outlet Clothing Store is being demolished.

"I would prefer to see an attractive farmer's market there with some kind of a building containing public restrooms," he said.

He thanked Dr. Andrew Kochman, acting president of SIUE, for taking the time to attend the breakfast and for the university's support of all programs to improve the Quad City area.

Tuition

received during this school year.

The state aid picture is bleak for next year, including summer school," Kraus stated.

Heubner reported the district spent about $250,000 for last year's summer school program with the understanding the state would reimburse the full amount.

To date we have received one-half of that reimbursement. We are supposed to receive the other half in two payments, in May and in June.

B. J. Davis, superintendent of schools, predicted the other half will be sent to the district, because state law last year made the reimbursement mandatory.

Kraus noted state law also makes full state aid mandatory, but the district has not received full funding and does not expect to receive its full claim.

He said the $125,000 still to be received from last year's summer school is money already appropriated for the present school year. "Without it, we will have a real cash flow problem," he said, noting that money will not be available for summer school.

It could be anticipated a full tuition-free summer school program this summer would cost the district another $250,000, which would have to be taken out of the budget for next school year. A deficit already is anticipated in the budget for next year which now is being prepared.

Kraus told the board, "I have checked with other school districts in this area and have found that most are ready to go on a tuition basis. Belleville and Edwardsville already have made the decision."

"Collinsville is considering doing away with the summer school program. Altogether, if state aid isn't provided, several other districts such as Triad, Livingston and Warden already cancelled their summer school programs," Kraus reported.

Those districts planning to charge a tuition for summer school are charging from $30 to $40 per course with courses averaging 20 students.

"We first estimated $25 per pupil per course is the figure at which we could break even on summer school. Later we figured a charge of $35.50, which would pay only the teachers' salaries, fringe benefits and retirement," Kraus told the board.

He said a limited program should be expected and possibly should be limited to required classes.

A survey at both high schools was taken of students wanting to take summer school. It showed enough are interested for two full classes at GCHS and North and nine classes at South. Combining those who did not fit into full classes at their in- dividual school would create eight more classes for a total of 19.

Last year we conducted 76 classes, plus band, plus driver training. "It's not a good picture for this year," Kraus commented.

He said the driver's training program should be dropped from consideration this summer. The state reimbursement is not enough to pay for the program, he said, and added there is no backlog of students needing driver's training.

"North did not have driver's training last summer, but South did because it had a backlog. This year we have taken care of the backlog and could skip driver's training this summer and still be in good shape," he stated.

He suggested the board approve a limited number of classes which students need for graduation, but with a $35 per student per class tuition charge. He estimated the full program would cost about $66,000, which would be financed by the tuitions.

"Nobody likes this. We first started our summer school program when federal funds just became available. For one year to see it, but you can not jeopardize the regular school program for an optional program," he explained.

The board discussed offering free classes only to students who had failed classes required for immediate graduation, but Board Member Monroe Worthen said that would be rewarding students for failing and penalizing students for passing their courses.

He said if anyone is charged a tuition, everyone must be charged. "This is a hairy problem that has been thrown on us awfully fast. I am not ready to act on it yet," Worthen said in requesting the administration study the alternatives and return to the board with more information.

Gilbert Walsley, principal of Granite City High School North, said he has been studying the impact of no summer school on the high school students in the district.

He said only about six or fewer would graduate due to summer courses. About 20 would be unable to graduate in mid-year without summer school this year, and a larger number would be unable to graduate next year without taking summer school this year.

Walsley suggested a limited program be offered this summer including English, Civics, social studies and some electives. "This would take care of most of these students," he predicted.

No discussion was held on junior high school or elementary school classes, indicating they would hold a lower priority in the planning than the high school classes.

The board directed the administration to study the summer school-related problems of the district's high school students, to determine how many students need what courses to graduate this summer or next year, and to determine the cost for the district to operate a limited but tuition-free summer school program.

Heubner and Kraus said they would gather the required information as rapidly as possible and would attempt to report back to the board at its May 8 meeting. A special meeting of the board will be called if information can be obtained before that date, Heubner pledged.

Memorial service for Mrs. Garner

Amvets Auxiliary 51 conducted a memorial service at last week's meeting for Mrs. Laura O. Garner of St. Louis, a former Madison resident and an honorary member of the auxiliary unit.

Mrs. Garner, 62, was killed April 24 in an auto crash at Morrison Road and Route 203 when she and a friend were returning home from the Amvets Post Home, 5100 Lakeview Drive. She was a passenger in an auto which apparently was struck broadside by another vehicle.

Auxiliary members draped the unit charter in her memory and a prayer was offered by Chaplain Trudy McGowan.

Mrs. Jackie Petras, president, was in charge of the business session. Donations were authorized to the Madison County Unit of the American Cancer Society and the Eastern Seal Society of Southwestern Illinois.

Nominations for 1976-77 officers will be accepted at the May 12 meeting, with the election scheduled for May 26, Mrs. Petras said. Plans already are being made for the public installation of Amvet and Auxiliary officers on June 5, she added.

A buffet dinner was served by Mrs. Lorena Varner and Mrs. Glenda Brockman, hostesses, who awarded a white elephant gift to Mrs. Ann Tucker.

40 third graders take Amtrak trip

Emerson third grade pupils of Mrs. Ruth Wojcik and Mrs. Siella Davenport made an educational field trip Tuesday to Springfield, traveling by Amtrak from Alton to the state capital.

The children toured the Illinois State Capitol Building and State Museum in Springfield. More than 40 third grade students took part in the excursion.

Especially thrilling for the youngsters was riding the train, the teacher reported.

A second place award went to Susan Squires in the same categories.

The dual winners of the Major and Minor Scale Competition were Susan Squires and Shannon Glasgow. Both completed all scales.

About 70 persons were in attendance at the recital.

Emerson PTA to install Tuesday

Dale Rea, assistant to Granite City Supt. of Schools B. J. Davis, will install new PTA officers at Emerson School at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Also at the PTA meeting, two plays will be presented by the first grade pupils under the direction of Mrs. Nancy Orris, lower primary teacher.

The children will be dressed in red, white and blue for the play, "Freedom," and in colonial-style attire for a performance of ABC America.

All parents and friends are invited to attend the program, which is being staged in keeping with the Bicentennial Year.

Room mothers from Mrs. Ruth Forrest's kindergarten classes will serve as hostesses during the social hour.

Plans now are complete for the annual school picnic from noon until 5 p.m. at Wilson Park on Thursday, May 13, according to Mrs. Sheila MacLaughlin, PTA president.

Yesterday at Emerson School, a "Colonial Days" celebration was held. Students were dressed in clothing appropriate to that era.

Classes were conducted following a one-room school operation, with pupils from all grade levels in each classroom. Crafts were made and the children tasted special food dishes similar to those prepared in colonial time.

Mother's Day at St. John United

Mother's Day will be celebrated Sunday at both the 9 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. worship services at St. John United Church of Christ, 2601 N. Meade Road. Each mother attending will be presented a long stemmed carnation.

The Rev. D. Paul Surbey, pastor, will deliver the morning message, "Great Women in the Bible," and the Chancel Choir, directed by Mrs. Irene Barick, will sing the anthem, "The Green Cathedral."

In conjunction with the Bicentennial series of programs at St. John United, the Rev. Carl Kuchwinski spoke this week on the history of St. John Church school. Founded in 1866, the first Christian education program was taught totally in German, he said.

Past and current Sunday school personnel were honored during the services.

Miss County Fair candidates sought

Fourteen young women have registered as prospective candidates for the first Miss Madison County Fair Pageant, scheduled in connection with the annual week long celebration at Lindendale Park, Highland, which commences July 26.

Additional candidates still are being sought by the Miss County Fair Committee.

Potential candidates are invited to send a resume, accompanied by a photograph detailing her educational background, hobbies, activities, address and telephone number to Madison County Fair Pageant, P.O. Box 41, Granite City, Ill. 62040.

All information provided pageant officials will be kept confidential.

Madison County Fair Association officials announced.

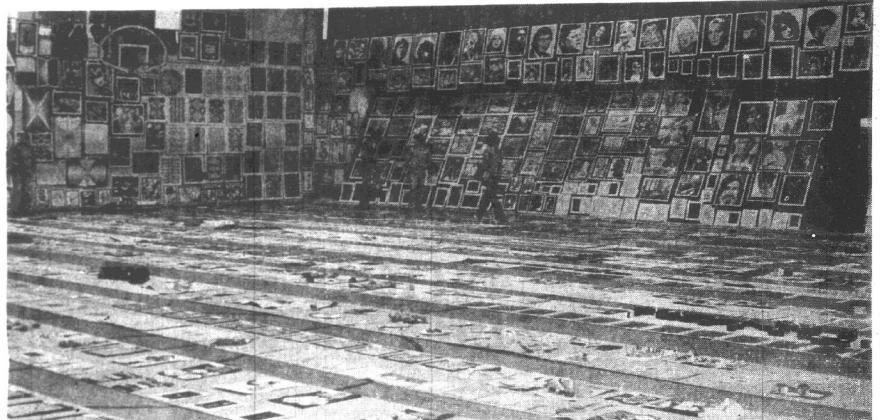

Resumes are being accepted from young women, 16 to 21 years of age, who are unmarried and are not professional models. Candidates "must meet" all requirements of the pageant, including not having reached the age of 22 years before Jan. 1, 1977.

The young woman chosen as Madison County Fair queen will receive a $250 U.S. Savings Bond, reign over fair week and will serve as hostess in August during a special day set aside for county queens at the Illinois State Fair.

An estimated 55 Illinois counties choose a young woman each year who represents her area in January at the Illinois State County Fair pageant held in Springfield.

The county fair state winner receives a $1,000 scholarship to the school of her choice; it was announced.

A panel of five judges will select the Madison County Fair queen on July 15, prior to the start of the 1976 county fair.

ACRES OF ART. The 15th annual Acres of Art show during the weekend in the Granite City High School South gymnasium attracted nearly 2,500 persons to view 5,000 various pieces of art work by students from kindergarten through 12th grade. The show was under the direction of Eugene L. Aiasi, director of art education for Granite City School District 9. During the program the GCHS North Vocal group and the South Band entertained the visitors.

State music teachers elect

The Illinois State Music Teachers Association (ISMTA) elected officers for the ensuing year and discussed tentative plans for programs and workshops during the final meeting of the season held this week at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

New officers include: Steven Field, South District president; Dr. Stephanie Owen, Metro-East chairman; Adeline Burgoine, secretary; Margaret Windsor, treasurer; Sherryl Mitchell of Granite City, a music student at SIUE and piano teacher; piano examination syllabus chairman, Bonnie Krupp, piano chairman; and Charlotte Herron, public relations chairman.

It was announced the Young Musicians' Festival will take place June 6 at SIUE. Discussions were held on the piano technique examination, set May 16 at Lewis and Clark Community College; the student auditions for September; and the ISMTA state convention, Nov. 6-8 at Eastern Illinois University.

Tentative plans for 1976-77 meetings and workshops reviewed, include: American composers and their ideal teaching pieces; Schubert-composer and teaching his music; How to harmonize pop melodies at the keyboard; 20th century music and the synthesizer; Jazz improvisation; Beginning-student techniques; and Wuritzer keyboard visuals.

Guest speakers and representatives will be contacted and scheduled for the 1976-77 year, it was announced.

ISMTA offers the opportunity of keeping "with the times" in teaching techniques and ideas and provides many chances for the students to participate in performances, contests and examinations, the president said. New members are invited and further information may be obtained by contacting Miss Mitchell at 876-1436.

OPEN FRIDAY UNTIL 10 P.M.

Three persons representing the Tri-City Area YMCA attended the Mid-America Regional Assembly of the "Y" during the weekend of April 1-3 at the University of Louisiana. The assembly was reported by E. A. Karandjoff, secretary of the "Y".

Jean Beatty, secretary of the board of directors, Paul C. Broussard, treasurer and vice-president of the board, and Harold Rudolph, executive director, were the official delegates.

There were among 1,000 delegates from "Y's of 14 states that make up the Mid-America Region which extends from Indiana to Texas and from North Dakota to Texas.

Three major items were on the agenda for the assembly. The Mid-America Region was divided into three areas, Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. Second, the election of representatives to serve on the National Council of YMCAs in the United States.

The University police at SIUE issued traffic tickets and filed charges against a student Tuesday. Robert A. Caples, Mount Olive, was cited for expired license plates, no valid driver's license, crossing a roadway at a place other than a crosswalk and obstructing traffic. The complaint alleges interfering with an officer.

The Security Office said two SIUE police officers were having cars towed from a parking zone at the Bubble Gym.

The tow truck driver placed the towing hook on a car, the owner took the hook off his car, they alleged, an officer told him he had to pay a $4 service charge.

The man then told the officers he would not pay the charge and got into his car and drove away.

Thirdly, five major program thrusts for the YMCAs were outlined: Cardiovascular fitness, youth development, family life programs, juvenile justice programs, and internationalizing YMCAs.

Speakers who addressed the audience included: Dr. J. Clayton Lafferty of Detroit, Mich. president of Human Synergistics, spoke on "Personal Growth as a Key to Value Formation."

Dr. Nicholas T. Goncharoff, Director of International Education and Cultural Affairs, spoke on "Internationalizing the YMCAs."

Dr. Lawrence D. Bolling, president of Bolling & Bolling Book Co., spoke on "Equipping YMCAs to Meet Human Needs in a Changing Society."

Robert Harlan, executive director of the National YMCA, E. Stanley Enlund, immediate ceremony, which included the planting of five spruce and pine trees, included Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Cubs, Brownies, Venice students, city officials and interested citizens. Seedling evergreens were distributed to all those present.

past chairman of the National YMCA, and Williams Schneider, chairman of the National Board of YMCAs, spoke on the "Past, Present, and the Future of the YMCA."

Dr. Fred Replogle of Chicago, who has been active in the YMCA since 1919 serving on the National Board and holding offices at local, regional and national levels, spoke on the "Spiritual Dimensions of the 'Y' Today."

The local "Y" representatives also attended a series of workshops on value education, cardiovascular fitness, long range planning, family programs, health-fitness-again programs, youth programs, and emerging role of board of directors.

"The information and inspiration acquired by the 'Y' representatives will help to strengthen our operations," Karandjeff said.

SMOKY BLAZE caused an estimated $4,500 damage last week to the home of Richard Bays, 2314 Independence Drive. Granite City firemen here remove

Ok planning for auto body shop at North High

The Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night instructed Henry Galtner, architect, to design an auto body repair and paint shop addition to a building presently being designed for auto mechanics classes at Granite City High School North.

The board previously in November (Galtner) designed a pre-engineered metal building to be placed between North and Tri-Mor bowls, which would house the auto mechanics shop.

Robert F. Maxwell, vocational director for the district, said the board feels the vocational educational budget is sufficient to also add an auto body work section to the proposed building.

He explained it would be undesirable to try to conduct auto body work, which is dusty and dirty, with mechanics areas, which should be free of dust. A dust-free painting booth also should be provided.

The board considered preliminary plans for Galtner and authorized him to prepare final plans for bidding. Galtner noted he felt an alternative also should be listed in the bids to raise the height of the floor by one foot to protect it against flooding in heavy rains.

The board authorized the preparation of plans for the regular building and for the building and body work addition as well as both ways with the alternate of a higher floor. It is anticipated final plans will be ready to release to Approve agreement

An agreement giving custodians and matrons hourly increases of 33 cents and maintenance men and storekeepers 45 cent per hour increases was approved with Service Employees International Union Local 96 by the Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night.

The two-year agreement also provides additional life insurance coverage and a provision for early retirement. A bonus schedule also is included for perfect and near perfect attendance during the 1976-77 school year, which is expected to reduce the number of substitutes which need to be called.

contractors by May 18, and bids can be opened June 16. Contracts could be awarded either June 22 or June 29, and construction would take place during the summer.

Mrs. Hughes dies at 81

Mrs. Lillie (McDaniel) Hughes, 81, of 2940 Circle Drive, died at 4 p.m. Tuesday at Centerville Township Hospital. She was born in Butler County, Mo., and resided here 12 years.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. James (Mary) Cross of Greenville, Ill., and Mrs. Juanita Scott of Cahokia; one sister, Mrs. Ollie Roberts of Sacramento, Calif.; four grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

PAUL DRIVE BREAK-IN
Items valued at about $1,100 were stolen from the home of George Taylor, 15 Paul Drive, Mitchell, it was reported at 4:15 p.m. Tuesday. Entry was gained by opening a rear garage door. There were no signs of forced entry. Stolen items include a hand radio, two cameras, about 35 to 40 record albums, a charm bracelet and about 10 hypodermic syringes.

INDIAN SIGN LANGUAGE. Chief White Eagle, a full-blooded Iroquois Indian, visited the children at St. Elizabeth Hospital Tuesday and showed them how to speak in Indian sign language. The chief's visit to this area was sponsored by Tri-Mor Bowl, as Chief White

Some fuel oil decontrolled

Federal price and allocation controls on residual fuel oil will be removed effective June 1, according to N. Allen Andersen, regional administrator of the Federal Energy Administration.

The exemption is the result of the first decontrol action submitted to Congress by the FEA since the Energy Policy and Conservation Act, the new energy bill, was signed into law Dec. 22. Andersen said residual oil will be maintained in a standby status for use only if future supplies of the fuel are interrupted.

The FEA is proceeding with action to remove price and allocation controls on other petroleum products, including middle distillates (home heating oil and diesel fuel) and gasoline.

Under the new energy bill, it may exempt oil-based products from controls if there are ample supplies of the fuel, if competition will adequately protect consumers, and if the exemption will not result in inequitable pricing geographically or among segments of the petroleum industry.

FEA sent its residual oil decontrol plan to Congress March 29. Regulations permit legislators to disapprove the plan by a simple majority vote of either house within 15 legislative days.

That period passed without Congressional action, and the plan takes effect June 1.

"The removal of residual oil controls relieves the petroleum industry of complex, unnecessary regulations and also returns to consumers the benefits of greater competition inherent in the free market system," Andersen said. "The FEA will continue to work with Congress on future decontrol proposals to reduce other existing regulations."

EOC ordered to return equipment

The Circuit Court of the Third Judicial Circuit in a hearing at Edwardsville Monday afternoon ordered the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission (EOC) to return to the city of Madison several kitchen appliances allegedly removed by EOC employees from the West Madison Recreation Center, Corporation Council George Filcoff Jr. informed the Madison City Council at its Tuesday night meeting.

Associate Judge Robert D. Francis did not rule, however, on $1,000 damages asked by the city, depending on EOC willingness and promptness in returning the items in dispute, according to Filcoff.

The complaint charged that EOC unlawfully removed a three-basin sink, dishwasher, gas stove and parts of a refrigerator-freezer belonging to the city from the center where EOC had been operating a day care center.

A letter, signed by 11 residents in the 900 block of Franklin St., complaining about a structure at 913 Franklin St., was read to the council. Mayor Mike Sasyk informed the council the city has permission to tear down the structure but that a problem developed as to where to put the old wood. He told the council that as soon as this problem is solved, the city will raise the structure.

Fifth Ward Alderman Donald Garrett raised a question about providing outside tennis courts in West Madison, in addition to other organized recreation.

Mayor Sasyk suggested that Garrett, Alderman Booker Walton and the mayor meet Monday with the Madison School Board concerning plans for a building currently being used as a lunch room near Dunbar school and across from the West Madison Recreation Center.

The mayor announced that he would like to meet with the Finance Committee and any alderman who wished to stay to review income and expenditures for the next year prior to drawing up a budget.

ONLY REPLICAS An Illinois town is getting foxy

By CAROL STEVENSON

ST. CHARLES — Foxes are invading St. Charles.

Not the living ones, but replicas of those which guard the Main Street bridge.

On lawns and porches, in gardens and back yards, in living rooms and dens, they are popping up everywhere.

These cement replicas of the Sons of Charlesagne are the work of LeRoy Close, custodian of the St. Charles City Hall.

A few years ago when the Main Street bridge was being replaced, the bronze foxes were removed temporarily from their sentry posts.

Placed there more than 50 years ago, they were re-installed when the new bridge was completed.

It was while the foxes were "unemployed" that Close came up with the idea of making replicas from cement.

He asked the late Mayor C. V. Ansonoff for permission, and the mayor gave it gladly.

I had been making garden statuary for about 15 years when I came across the bronze foxes in a city store-room.

Close said: "I wondered if it could be done — making a cement replica of one."

With the mayor's blessing, he tried, and succeeded.

The mold made from the original is in St. Charles now. Close said: "I made one like a mason's plumb line."

Close's skillful hands, the garden can be fitted together like a giant three-dimensional al puzzle. The pieces are not numbered, so nobody but Close can assemble the mold.

There's an added complication: The mold stands on its head, meaning the whole thing is upside down as Close works.

He took one of the bronze foxes and coated it with liquid rubber.

"Can't be too thin, or it moves," he said. "Can't be too thick, or it will separate from the next layer," he said.

He applied 15 layers of the liquid rubber and then let the whole thing dry and cure.

When it was done, he began making the 35 plaster mold pieces.

I covered the rubber with vaseline and started putting on the plaster of Paris. Eventually, I got each piece made and took it apart.

Now when he makes a cement fox, he reverses the process.

Twenty-four hours later the cement fox is ready for painting.

Some people like to leave the foxes as they are and paint them. "I do it the way they want."

Close said: "I made several colors when he paints a fox. First, a base coat of white, then brown, bronze for highlights and touches of white."

No two of them are exactly the same," he said with a grin. "I'm not really an artist."

It's just a hobby, and it keeps me busy," he said.

THE LOTTERY

Why don't schools get bigger 'take?'

By ED ARMSTRONG

SPRINGFIELD — One of the common misconceptions of the public in regard to the ever present problem of school finance is that the state lottery would be a lot better off if all the proceeds of the state lottery went to schools.

That is a frequent complaint we hear year around in conversations about the lottery and about the plight of the schools, and it is discussed often in letters to the editor. Now, when there's a school board election campaign and the legislature is returning to take up a spate of deficiency appropriations for education, it's even more often repeated.

Let's try to set the record straight. There is no way to say whether the lottery revenue is or is not being used for education, because it is going into a pot from which hundreds of millions of dollars for the public schools is being taken. If the lottery revenue were earmarked for education, there would be no assurance that the schools would get one penny more from state government.

Here's why: Last fiscal year, the year from July 1, 1974 to June 30, 1975, the state transmitted approximately $1.24 billion to elementary and secondary school districts in Illinois.

That includes also unit school districts.

Three million dollars from the gross proceeds tax on bingo (Half of the tax on bingo games goes to the school fund, the other half goes to the mental health fund.)

And $223 million from federal revenue sharing money. (All of the revenue sharing money that goes to school districts.)

And $643 million from the state's General Fund. (That's the catchall fund, derived mostly from income and sales taxes, from which the largest share of the state's expenses are paid.)

Lottery proceeds in Illinois last year — what the state made from the lottery operation — were about $60 million.

They went into the General Revenue Fund, that catchall fund from which $643 million — 10 times the lottery proceeds — was taken for aid to schools.

Who's to say the $60 million derived from the lottery wasn't part of that $643 million in General Revenue that went to the schools?

But, if the legislature and the governor had said absolutely that the lottery proceeds go to schools and legally earmarked that revenue for educational purposes, wouldn't that mean the schools would get more money?

No, it wouldn't, because total appropriations for schools do not depend on earmarked funds.

If the $60 million in lottery proceeds had gone directly to the Common School Fund instead of being placed in the General Revenue Fund, it is likely that the appropriations from the General Revenue Fund would simply have been $60 million less — $583 million instead of $643 million — and the schools would have ended up with the same amount in state aid.

NATURE'S WORK Kickapoo delights campers

Editor's Note: This is one of a series on Illinois state parks and memorials.

By JOAN MURAKO

DANVILLE — What man destroys, Nature will restore, given time. Kickapoo State Park in east central Illinois, straddling Interstate 74, is a prime example of this regenerative power.

When the 20th Century began, about three-quarters of what is now the park was a veritable "badlands" of bare ridges and deep, ugly gullies left by strip mining. When the coal was gone, the operators abandoned the desecrated site, leaving bare, exposed subsoil and stagnant pond waters.

Today, there is a luxurious growth of varied trees, the water teeming with fish and a variety of animal life abounds. In all, there are 30 ponds ranging from tiny to good-sized. Cypress trees have been introduced along the pond edges. Redwing blackbirds call from nearby marshes.

It probably looked much different in prehistoric times, but the region has attracted man from the earliest days. Excavations have shown that sometime between 500 and 1500 A.D. a village was located a few miles to the north. In historical times the Plankeshaw Indians had a village west of the present city of Danville. They were pushed out eventually by the Kickapoo, who had been forced out of Wisconsin.

The Kickapoo village was reportedly the birthplace of Kennebec, the so-called "Kickapoo Prophet" who preached a Christian-like religion, which has been compared to the Protestant in its sermons and to the Catholic in its ritual.

So important was the production of salt in the early days of white occupancy in the region that the first settlement was called, somewhat redundantly, "Salt Salines." The salines first were discovered by an expedition led by Joseph Barron, in 1819. In the same year another member of the party, Truman Blackman, returned and claimed them for himself. He and his party constructed shelters and spent a miserable winter, digging wells to obtain salt brine, which was boiled in large rendering kettles to evaporate the water. The salt works were operated until 1840 and at their high point produced about 120 bushels of salt a week. One of these abandoned kettles has been found in the park and is on display in a small memorial located near the original works site, on Rt. 130 near the top of Pissum Trot Hill.

First acquired by the state in 1939 with a purchase of 1,250 acres from United Electric Coal Co., the park has been expanded to a present size of 1,680 acres.

Visitors today will find three picnic areas, and a concession stand which sells the usual items and, in summer, rents bicycles. There are sites for tent and trailer camping, and a sanitary dump station. In summer, leaders conduct recreation programs for campers; children and a seasonal park interpreter leads nature tours and programs. There are self-guided nature trails and hiking trails as well.

There are 13 launching ramps on nine lakes, and the lakes and river offer bass, channel catfish, bluegill, crappie and redear. Only electric motors are allowed in winter, ice skating, ice fishing and sledding are popular.

The conservation department, which operates Illinois state parks, requires advance registration for groups containing more than 25 persons.

OVERVIEW GOP helps Daley grow in stature

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois Republicans have helped make Richard J. Daley the dominant political figure in the state.

In failing to elevate anyone since World War II to a position of lasting statewide leadership, the Illinois GOP has left a political vacuum that the Chicago mayor has filled with pleasure and profit.

In his current book, "Charles H. Percy... A Political Perspective," Robert E. Hartley devotes a key chapter to explaining the Illinois political realities from the beginning of the Republican Party down to the opening of the 1976 election campaign.

"Without a strong personal leadership at the gubernatorial level or in Congress, the Illinois Republican Party is rudimentary," observes Hartley.

"On the other hand, the Democratic Party has been able to look to Chicago's Mayor Richard J. Daley for leadership whether the governor was a Democrat or not.

Even if the mayoral situation were to change, the Democratic Party's central controlling mechanism would still be far more successful at maintaining party discipline than any organization the Republicans have been able to build," writes Hartley.

Hartley traces the present GOP plight all the way back to its beginning.

"The current situation (Chicago's Democratic stronghold and the downstate Republican) did not develop until well into the 1900s. Prior to 1900 party domination in the state — Democrats in the north and Republicans in the south — reflected the original settlement patterns. Persons in the southern part of the state came from the Deep South, while the northern part of the state was settled by persons from the Northeast," reports Hartley.

The first important means of crossing the eastern mountains was the Cumberland Gap on the Virginia-Kentucky border and through which Daniel Boone built the Wilderness Road just after the close of the Revolutionary War. Settlers swarmed through the Gap and on to the Ohio River that provided them transportation into southern and western Illinois.

Half a century later the Erie Canal was opened, and the canal made it possible for people from New England to settle the upper half of Illinois.

This explains why Lincoln was not able to carry southern and western Illinois. The Cumberland Gap people were not greatly concerned about the expansion of slavery while the New Englanders in the northern part of the state were violently opposed to the extension of slavery. They gave Lincoln such solid support that he carried the state both in 1860 and 1864.

Probation office M-V Rotary topic

Operations of the Madison County Probation department were explained to the Madison-Venice Rotary Club by Darrell Smith, unit supervisor, at the group's Wednesday noon meeting in the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh and Lee streets.

The department's three major areas of concern are presentence investigations, enforcement of probation orders, supervision and rehabilitation, the speaker said.

Smith noted that the case load has doubled during the last three years and a volunteer unit has been formed. Persons wishing to assist in the volunteer office are invited to contact the county probation office in Edwardsville for information.

Rotarians were reminded of the Saturday, May 15, Cardinal baseball game to benefit the Shrine children hospitals.

Rail crossing safety funds growing while fatalities rise — Thompson

James R. Thompson, Republican nominee for governor, proposed a plan Monday to deal with railroad crossing fatalities in Illinois.

Thompson said that although Illinois' position as a railroad center provides the state with great economic benefits, it also imposes a grave responsibility on state government to protect against the destruction and tragedy caused by crossing accidents.

He cited statistics that 83 deaths and 254 injuries occurred at grade crossings in Illinois last year.

The most recent available national comparisons put Illinois second among the states in grade crossing accidents and third in fatalities, he said.

Thompson asserted that the Illinois Commerce Commission, which has control over crossing projects on "local roads," has a balance of $7.5 million in a Grade Crossing Protection Fund. By statute, the fund is growing at a rate of $200,000 per month from motor fuel tax receipts.

The Illinois Department of Transportation, which has jurisdiction over projects on state and federal highways, has about $3 million in unused federal funds, he related.

"The time has come for concrete action. Safety devices — not large cash balances — saves lives."

"To put the available dollars to work, I propose a broad program to stem the rising tide of railroad crossing accidents," Thompson said.

His proposal includes:

1. "The ICC and DOT should form a task force to establish a systematic and comprehensive priority schedule for future crossing projects. This schedule should identify the nature of the action to be taken at each crossing, the urgency of the situation and the measures that can be taken in the interim."

2. "An accelerated construction program for grade crossing projects should start as soon as possible. To begin that program, the ICC must change its planning policies so that allocated funds are put to use much more rapidly."

3. "The DOT must develop a policy to commit available federal funds to needed construction programs. To accomplish these objectives, the statute which created the state's Grade Crossing Protection Fund should be amended to insure that the proportionate share which local governments now pay for safety devices be based on their population.

"The amendment should also allow money from the fund to be used on grade crossing projects on state and federal highways."

"This would make better use of the large fund balance, coordinate state efforts on local, state and federal crossing sites, and coincide with the overall priority schedule."

4. "A comprehensive plan to educate the public to the dangers of railroad crossings should be developed."

license test, and incorporated into driver instruction courses on a statewide basis."

Thompson said data shows that the situation is worsening.

"Although grade crossing accidents were on the decline for 50 years, the trend began to change in 1973."

He said it is "important to remember that the numbers are not just statistics on a chart but represent real life tragedies."

"Behind each statistic is a name, a family, a tragedy. A concerted effort by the state is necessary to prevent the continuing rise in accidents and injuries and the startling number of deaths at Illinois grade crossings.

"The most sorrowful tragedies are those which could have been prevented by human action."

Six traffic deaths break early record

A record of 183 consecutive days without a traffic fatality in the Quad City area was broken last month with a total of six traffic deaths, all occurring in a 12-day period between April 12 and April 24, according to statistics compiled today by the Press-Record.

The April traffic toll of six deaths was within three of the total of nine fatalities recorded during the first four months last year. This year's record for the longest period in which no accident fatalities occurred resulted when no fatalities were recorded in January, February and March and during the first 12 days of April.

During the same period of 1975, there was one traffic death in January, three in February, one in March and four in April for the total of nine.

At the same time, April traffic statistics also showed a sharp increase in the number of accidents in which injuries occurred and the number of persons injured, as compared with those of April 1975.

A total of 65 injury accidents occurred in the area during April, an increase of 30 over the 35 such accidents occurring in April 1975, while 100 persons were injured in last month's accidents, compared to 59 persons injured in the 35 accidents reported in April a year ago.

April accident and injury statistics brought to 235 the total number of injury accidents so far this year, with a total of 340 persons injured in those accidents.

This is 55 more accidents and 10 more injury cases than had occurred during the same four-month period last year.

The number of accidents, the number of injuries and fatalities during the first four months of this year, in that order, were:

January 34-63-6; February 53-72-1; March 63-104-0; and April 65-100-6.

In comparison, last year's statistics for the same period were:

January 39-50-1; February 38-76-3; March 68-104-1; April 35-59-4.

State Park residents favor sewer program

Collinsville Herald—The Madison County board is willing State Park Place is certain to need the special tax district needed for sewers simply because the 51 per cent opposition needed to defeat the plan doesn't exist.

That, anyway, is the opinion of State Park residents Al Bakke and other community leaders.

The three proposed special tax districts in the townships of Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice would be created without a vote of those living in these communities. The only way to stop the formation of the districts will be by petition from 51 per cent of the electors and land owners in each district.

The Eagle Park Acres Improvement Association has voted to petition the county and state to stop funding of the sewer plan.

Eagle Park is a part of Special Service Area 3, State Park is Area 2. Each area stands alone and failure of Eagle Park to form a district would not affect State Park Place.

Sewers would cost the most in Area 3, the least in Area 1, which includes the Pontoon Beach area.

Eagle Park residents are protesting that cost of the sewers would be too high and that it would be impractical to put sewers in areas subject to flooding.

No such petitions have been circulating in State Park Place. I don't think State Park people are disarming much because of our need for sewers," Bakke says.

He notes that although there is scattered opposition to the plan, several years ago when the community held a referendum on sewers, 75 per cent of the community voted in favor of it.

The referendum failed, however, because residents of other subdivisions voted solidly against the plan.

In State Park, the main concern right now is not how to defeat the plan, but rather how to pay for it.

The proposed sewer plan for State Park Place is frustrating many homeowners who are finding it difficult to figure out how much the sewers will cost them personally.

Although exact figures on that cost won't be available for several months, each homeowner's possible expenses will include the following:

- The cost of putting in or having someone else put in the sewer line across each resident's property to connect with the sewer lines.

- An increase of approximately $100 on yearly property tax bills, if assessed valuation is near $2,000.

- A one-time fee of between $25 and $50 which pays for the required inspection.

- A possible fee for preliminary work to provide some working capital.

Finding the cost for individual sewer lines is made more difficult because of the fact that the water table varies in different sections of State Park Place.

Two Collinsville area excavating contractors say it would probably cost somewhere between $6 and $8 per foot to put in six-inch sewer lines from residence to street.

One of these contractors, Clyde Switzer of State Park, says the cost would be considerably less than $6 per foot installed for residents whose soil is sandy, where the soil is almost gumbo, the expense will be more than $8 a foot, he believes.

Some homeowners will also have to pay the expense of changing their plumbing connections from the back to the front of their homes, he adds.

Switzer says he believes it would be foolish, and dangerous, for most State Park residents to attempt to put in their own sewer lines.

In some areas, the surrounding soil must be "shored up" with forms—not a job for the novice, he said.

Many problems with septic tanks occur because they weren't installed correctly. He says the same problem could occur with sewers.

State Park homeowners can get an idea of the cost of their lines by taking the number of feet from residence to hook-up point times that cost stated above, which must nearly apply to their own soil conditions.

Residents can figure their approximate property tax increase by dividing their home's assessed valuation by $100 and multiplying that answer times $3.30 (Area Two).

If general obligations bonds are sold over a 20-year period at 7 1/2 per cent interest, the tax rate would be $3.20 per $100 assessed valuation initially.

Thus, tax on property assessed at $3,000 would be $96, or more, $320 more on property assessed at $10,000. In the event the bonds are spread over 15 years, the rate would be $3.70 per $100 assessed valuation.

Monthly user charges will probably be slightly over $4— with about $3 of this to Collinsville for treatment and the rest for administrative, maintenance and electrical costs.

State Park residents will have the opportunity to state their feelings on formation of the special tax district for financing of the sewers at a public hearing from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. May 15 at the Edwardsville courthouse.

The Madison County board, sponsor of the plan, will have to decide at its June meeting whether or not to form the three special tax districts in the county.

43 trees beautify Nameoki Drive area

Forty-three flowering crabapple trees are now bud-burst along Nameoki Drive, near 25th Street, due to the cooperative efforts of individual citizens, civic leaders and city officials.

The tree planting project was conceived and initiated by Mrs. Carleen Lee, 755 Twenty-seventh Place, who enlisted the aid of various individuals to accomplish the task.

Mrs. Jo Meyer, Beautification Committee chairman for the Women's Division, Chamber of Commerce of the Tri-Cities, was responsible for getting the trees, Mrs. Lee said.

Funds for their purchase, at cost, were donated by Fourth Ward Alderman Warren Decatur and other areas of expense were covered through the efforts of Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler and Fourth Ward Alderman Glen Sprankle.

Many others aided in the project, it was learned. Wayne Siefert, horticultural adviser with the University of Illinois Area Extension Service in Madison County, visited Nameoki Drive and vicinity, and furnished information concerning the type of trees best suited for planting and what measures should be taken to prepare the ground.

Planting was provided by Donald G. Adams of Granite City Glass and Fence Co., and pest mow for planting purposes was donated by Avery Schermer of Schermer Bros. Supermarket in Madison.

David Lehn, Recycling Center director for Coordinated Youth Services, a United Fund agency, recruited several youths to plant the trees.

Assistance in the planting program also was arranged by Granite City Superintendent of Streets Lionel Portell and provided by his department members, James Hutchings, Foreman, and Al Mitchell.

Mrs. Lee said others who "greatly assisted" in the tree planting project included William Harrison, Granite City 16th precinct committeeman and Mrs. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan, Randall Lee, C. F. Shemwell, Jeff Dowdy and Lawrence Budde.

Hillbilly Weddin' at Venice High on Friday

A "Hillbilly Weddin'" will take place at 8 p.m. Friday at Venice High School.

Hillbilly Weddin' is a comedy play of hillbilly life centering around the problems "Paw Belsnickle" (James Turner) has in finding a husband for the oldest of his six daughters, "Cecile" (Sharon Taylor).

Things begin to get complicated when a young medical student played by James Comerford and his aunt, played by Peggy Fier, arrive at the Belsnickle cabin.

Cecile and her sister, Bonnie Mae (Tami Eck), are both attracted to the handsome young stranger.

The Upschlager brothers (Dwight Gardner and Hildred Gowan) decide the only way to get rid of this "menace" is to start a feud.

Others in the senior class play are Carolyn Moore, Debra Burns, Darlene Smith, Elaine Mosby, Tim Walker, Jaffe Woodmark and Susan Pauer.

Admission is 50 cents for students and $1 for adults.

Pupils naming favorite dog, bird, animal

Elementary school children are involved this week in campaigning and voting for their favorite animals and birds in mock elections sponsored by the Illinois Office of Education and the Illinois' Board of Elections.

Purpose of the mock elections is to teach students how elections work. Activities were scheduled to coincide with Law Week.

State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin said "is our increasingly complex society, the need for active citizenship education is becoming more apparent."

Knowledge of the responsibilities of voting and of the election process is an important part of students' education for living in a democracy.

Packets of information on the mock elections were mailed in early April to elementary school principals. Included were a step-by-step guide for conducting a mock election and ideas for related activities.

The material had short descriptions of each animal and suggested that students wage campaigns to inform voters of the choices.

A specially-designed ballot was prepared with a drawing of each bird or animal to allow even the youngest students to participate.

Each class will elect its own favorite. The results are unofficial and teachers may report their results to the Board of Elections on an evaluation sheet provided. Five choices are offered in each of three categories: dog, bird and animal.

The candidates are: Favorite bird—woodpecker, quail, pheasant, bluejay and hummingbird.

Wild animal—fox, opossum, raccoon, skunk and deer.

Dog—Saint Bernard, dachshund, collie, bulldog and beagle.

Alternatives suggested as possible write-in candidates are the sparrow, robin, eagle, parrot, duck or cardinal as favorite bird; the lion, rabbit, bear or wolf as favorite animal; and the cocker spaniel, poodle, German shepherd or sheep dog as favorite dog.

Bicentennial concert presented by GC North

The Granite City High School North Vocal Music Department presented its Bicentennial concert Tuesday in the South auditorium.

The choruses performed a variety of American music, ranging from original songs of the Revolutionary War to ballads of the early 1900s. The Advanced Mixed Chorus presented "A Revolutionary Portrait," a compilation of original songs of the American Revolution including "The Toast," "The Island Queen" with a solo by Pam Reinhardt.

"Johnny Has Gone for a Soldier," with a duet by Debbie Barlock and Joan Fabisher, "Chester," and "Yankee Doodle." Linda Parish narrated the work.

The Mixed Chorus sang "Dixie" by Daniel Emmett, "The Death of Nathan Hale" by Alice Parker and Robert Shaw, "Ching-a-Ring-Chaw," a minuet song, and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" by Julia Ward Howe. Contando performed "This Is My Country," "Poor Little Bessie," "Goin' to Boston," "Give Me Your Tired and Your Poor," and "America."

The Madrigals closed the concert with "The Nation's Creed," the Irish Railroad Workers' Song "Drill Ye Terriers," the Yankee Farmer song "Sow Took the Moose," and an original composition by Betty Goodman Hiles, "My America."

The special effects for the concert were provided by Ralph Mangan and Mark McIntyre. The accompanists were Gail Kendall, Connie LaVelle, Timothy Pence, and Debbie Popovich.

For only $1.58, you can make a ten-minute Long Distance call to the farthest point in the United States.

It's almost 2,000 miles from Illinois to Patrick's Point in northern California.

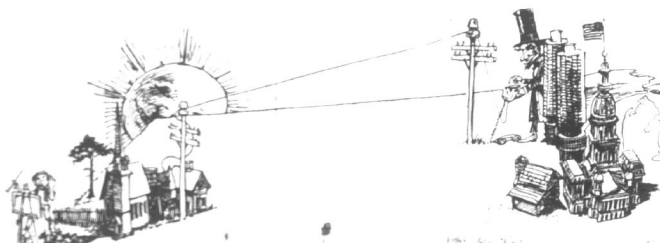

By our calculations, it's about the farthest point from Illinois in the United States (excluding Alaska and Hawaii).

Yet for just $1.58, you can call Patrick's Point by Long Distance and talk for ten minutes.

All you have to do is dial direct. And call on the weekend—anytime Saturday or before 5 p.m. Sunday.

Now if you can make a ten-minute call as far away as Patrick's Point for only $1.58—obviously, it would cost even less to call Topeka or Pittsburgh or just about anywhere else in the U.S.

Illinois Bell

Direct Dial rates do not apply to coin, hotel, guest, hospital, patient, credit card, collect or person-to-person calls, or to calls charged to another number because an Operator must be involved with such calls. They do apply on calls placed with an Operator from a residence or business phone where Direct Dial facilities are not available. Rates quoted do not include tax.

Impasse in Mideast is hazardous—Stevenson

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

A troubled Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, reporting to his peers, chastizes the Ford administration and Congress for "ignorant meddling" in the politics of the unstable Middle East.

The Illinois Democrat talked to about every ranking spokesman, except Egypt's Anwar Sadat, who had the flu, on a 16-day trip he took as chairman of the Subcommittee on International Finance.

Stevenson's 23-page report to Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, has just been released.

"Time is running out—again," says Stevenson. "It would be tragic to let this happen."

He ascribes this view to Middle East leaders who maintain that the United States and Israel will both "be paralyzed" by their respective elections in 1976 and 1977.

"A new order of statesmanship is required from both the executive and the legislative branches," Stevenson insists.

"For too long, Congress has meddled or gone along without any real understanding of Middle Eastern politics. Neither the United States, nor Israel, nor any of the Arab states will be served by continued ignorance or the expediencies of election-year politics."

Stevenson makes the point that this area is simply too incendiary for that.

"The United States, deeply and inextricably involved in the conflict since the establishment of the state of Israel, has its own stake in a settlement—a much more important stake than oil or export markets."

"Americans may not see the issues as those of life or death, as they are seen by the direct participants in the confrontation, but another Arab-Israeli war risks the danger of war with the Soviet Union and virtually assures a depression in the West."

"This is the fatal direction in which a continued Middle Eastern impasse leads us," Stevenson said. It is generally agreed that the Palestinians are "the nub of the problem" and they "cannot be left out" of any Middle East settlement.

"They will not go away," despite their own disunity and the vain hope of Israel that the refugees would simply "be absorbed, digested, and assimilated over time."

Though the senator comes perilously close, he does not repeat the mistake of his Illinois Republican colleague, Sen. Charles H. Percy, who riled his Jewish constituency last year with his observation that Yasser Arafat, Palestinian Liberation Organization leader, was a "relative" moderate alongside other Arab chieftains.

"One would hesitate," says Stevenson, "to designate Yasser Arafat... a moderate, since his character has been stamped, in American public opinion, by his gun-toting appearance in New York."

"Let it suffice to report that in a long conversation in Beirut, he appeared to be making every effort to represent himself as a reasonable man."

"If his statements are to be taken at face value, always a risky assumption in this emotion-charged area, he is at least less moderate than others in the PLO. Leaders of neighboring Arab states, such as Syrians, take tougher positions than Arafat."

Stevenson, in his report, concedes that he got "fewer answers than additional questions." He thinks, however, that he came away with this "single" message:

"The impasse has resumed. Each of the parties assumes that time is on its side. Each is probably wrong."

Longer hours for ride to top of Gateway Arch

Hours of operation for the Gateway Arch passenger transportation system for the late spring and summer seasons have been announced by Robert J. Baer, executive director of the Bi-State Development Agency. Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler heads the agency's board.

In May and through Friday, June 4, the transportation system to the top of the Arch will be operated from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on weekdays, and from 9 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Beginning Saturday, June 5, with the start of the main tourist season, the Arch transportation system will go on its summer schedule, operating from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. seven days a week. This schedule will remain in effect through Sunday, Sept. 5.

Baer said past experience at the Arch indicates that visitors intending to ride to the top should arrive at least one hour prior to the closing time to provide sufficient time for the trip and viewing at the top of the Arch.

The Gateway Arch transportation system is operated by the Bi-State Development Agency under terms of a 30-year cooperative agreement with the National Park Service. Since July 24, 1967, when operation of the transportation system was started, the system has carried more than seven million passengers to the top of the Arch to enjoy a panoramic view of the metropolitan St. Louis area in Missouri and Illinois.

Illinois favors Swine Flu inoculation for all

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

President Gerald Ford has obtained from Congress an appropriation for 225 million doses of vaccine to immunize every United States citizen against Swine Flu.

What is Swine Flu, and why is everyone so concerned about it? In February of this year, the Swine Flu virus was identified as the cause of an outbreak of influenza at Ft. Dix, N.J. One young soldier died in this outbreak.

New Jersey health officials sounded the alarm after identifying the virus, because of indirect evidence that this virus may be similar to the one which caused the worldwide flu epidemic, or pandemic, of 1918-19. In that epidemic, more than half a million Americans died of the flu and its complications.

Following that pandemic, the number of cases of Swine Flu steadily declined each year. Since the early 1930s, only scattered cases of this disease have been seen, and only in instances where the patient had had direct contact with hogs. Because of the rarity of the disease since the 1930s, very few Americans have had an opportunity to develop any natural immunity to Swine Flu.

Therefore, the great majority of people in the U.S. are susceptible to the virus. Because it seemed the disease could only be transmitted from swine to persons, health officials were not disturbed by the large number of susceptible Americans until they investigated the outbreak at Ft. Dix. In that incident, public health officials discovered that in some cases, the disease was transmitted from person to person.

If the Swine Flu virus is now capable of person-to-person transmission, the United States could approach the next flu season, which normally begins in mid-December, with more than 200 million susceptible people.

Most health experts agree, however, that we are not facing a repetition of the high death rate experienced in 1918-1919 due to modern antibiotics which are effective in the treatment of pneumonia and other secondary infections associated with the flu virus.

Although the flu virus itself can cause death directly, a large percentage of those who died in 1918 died from pneumonia or other complications.

If a mass immunization program were not conducted, and a nationwide epidemic occurred next winter, it could result in thousands of deaths, millions of cases of pneumonia and other complications—and cost the American people billions of dollars in medical expenses and lost wages.

For these reasons, Illinois public health officials supported the proposal for a nationwide immunization effort, and will encourage all citizens to have a Swine Flu inoculation.

Charged in hearse theft

William F. Ferguson, 53, St. Louis, who allegedly was arrested in St. Louis Friday in a hearse stolen from Sedlack Funeral Home, 615 Madison Ave., Madison, was officially charged Monday with operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, driving while under the influence of liquor, leaving the scene of an accident, and destruction of city property.

He also was ordered held as a fugitive from Madison County for Madison police who want to question him in relation to the alleged theft of the hearse.

Officials of Sedlack Funeral Home said they were told by a neighbor Friday that the hearse had just driven into a fence and then drove away.

Police searched the area until a McKinley Bridge toll collector recalled a hearse crossing the bridge. St. Louis police were notified and informed Madison police that a hearse had just sideswiped a police car, parked on the edge of Interstate 70 east of Union Boulevard. The hearse then left the scene, continuing west to Goodfellow Avenue where it turned north and was stopped by police. It is alleged Ferguson was the driver and he was taken into custody.

Bi-State team outlines jobs

A career team from the Bi-State Development Agency is available to visit area schools to discuss with students the job opportunities in public transportation. Robert J. Baer, Bi-State executive director, reports.

"Many young people are under the impression that all Bi-State employees drive buses," Baer said, "so we welcome opportunities to explain the size and scope of Bi-State's operations and our contribution to the regional economy."

In addition to being the metropolitan area's only major provider of public transit, Bi-State operates the capsule transporter system at the Gateway Arch, owns and operates Parks Airport in Cahokia and is regional coordinator of the Port of Metropolitan St. Louis.

Career team members representing the personnel, public information and training divisions of Bi-State have developed a program that includes a 15-minute slide presentation, background material about the agency, and specific career information.

Nutrition for elderly emphasized

The Nutrition Program for the Elderly in Illinois is serving more than 14,300 meals daily, five days each week, Kenneth W. Holland, director of the Illinois Department on Aging, reports. He said this is an average daily increase of more than 300 meals over the quarter ending Dec. 31.

Our target is to be serving more than 15,000 meals daily by the end of June," he added.

The department directly administers and funds 43 nutrition projects across the state, with 37 serving sites. Fifty-two new sites were opened during the three-month period ending March 31.

"The Illinois Nutrition Program for the Elderly provides a hot, nutritious lunch for people 60 and older. In addition to good food, the program provides an opportunity to meet new friends. Meal costs are on a contribution basis," Holland said.

"Illinois' share of federal funds under Title VII of the Older Americans Act, to operate the program for fiscal 1975-76, is $7,571,626. Social services provided through the program include transportation, escort, outreach, nutrition education, information and referral, and recreational activities.

In addition to fighting malnutrition, the program's goal is to help relieve loneliness and isolation in old age. The program also assists older people in finding needed social services in their communities."

YOUTHFUL MODEL Christine King compares colors and fabrics of spring and summer clothing to be presented at a public fashion show, following the theme, "You've Come A Long Way Baby." The event will be sponsored by Granite City Junior Service Club at 2 p.m. May 16 at South High School.

Learn from other cultures, county's Homemakers told

Mary Jane Aylesworth, a world traveler from Valparaiso, Ind., presented the highlight talk at the Madison County Homemakers' Extension Association's 40th annual meeting during the weekend: there were 200 members and guests from the 20 county units.

Mrs. Aylesworth said foreign cultures sometimes have little to give materially and yet give much in the form of hospitality. "Often we, as U.S. citizens, think we run the ball game—but we don't. Other cultures have good ideas, too."

"We must give and take and be educated to each other," Mrs. Aylesworth said. She stressed a need for Americans to increase their knowledge of other people.

The mother, grandmother and international traveler based her comments on travels to India, Scandinavia, Australia and South America.

"We're not Getting Older—We're Getting Better" was the theme for the day's activities. Opening the morning portion of the program was County President Mildred Dreich. The welcome was offered by Mrs. Robert Erwin, Northwest District chairman.

The Rev. Myron Liefer, pastor of the Zion Lutheran Church in Bethalto, where the annual meeting was held, gave the invocation.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Erwin, accompanied by Mrs. William Edelmann, Mrs. Melvin Spitzer directed the members and guests in the pledge of allegiance.

Mrs. Richard Adams read minutes of the 1975 annual meeting. Mrs. Wayne Reller, county second vice president, gave a membership report and the budget for the county was presented by Mrs. Sylvester Johnson, treasurer.

Past presidents presented a special feature entitled "Memories' Memories' 40 Years. Home Bureau to Homemakers' Extension Association.

Those involved in the historical sketch included Mesdames Alma Eilers and Mary Knecht, Edwardsville; T. E. Albrecht, Alhambra; and Robert Bragg, Granite City. Other past H.E.A. presidents in attendance were Mesdames Virgil Davis, Edwardsville; Guy De Chiara, Collinsville; Orville Fletcher, Highland; and Wilbur Hendricks, Moro.

Reports on Extension activities during 1975 were given by Extension Advisers Diana Bartscht, Darlene Heer, Catherine Mauck and Janette Mueller.

Mrs. Reller presented the state of officers for election: Mrs. Ruby Becker, Moro, president; Mrs. Richard Adams, Troy, first vice president; Mrs. John Grodzki Jr., Troy, secretary; Mrs. Roger Kuchta, Edwardsville, cultural arts chairman; Mrs. Harold Thurnau, St. Jacob, international; and Mrs. Maud Schmidt, Granite City, public information.

Officers and directors remaining in the same position are Mrs. Wayne Reller, Edwardsville, second vice president; Mrs. Sylvester Johnson, East Alton, treasurer; Mrs. Melvin Spitzer, Edwardsville, citizenship and safety; Mrs. Robert Sido, Edwardsville, voluntary action; and Mrs. Harry Steelman, Dorsey, special activities.

Mrs. John Fuller, Illinois

Homemakers Extension Federation district director from Belleville, installed the officers and directors.

Mrs. Reller presented membership awards. The Florence Johnson Traveling Gavel was awarded to the Edwardsville A unit for the largest percentage net gain in membership. Receiving honorable mention was the St. Jacob unit.

Alhambra had the largest percentage of members in attendance. Blue ribbon units recognized were Rox-Ann and Leaf.

Luncheon entertainment was provided by the West Bethalto Elementary School boys and girls ensemble under the direction of Mrs. Janet Miller.

Decorations for the day followed a Bicentennial theme.

WERE OFF AND WALKING. Beginning 10-mile trek in this week's Walkathon to benefit the March of Dimes, youthful participants in the initial group leave the starting point at Wilson Park, risk pavilion, are anxious to get going. A majority of the walkers represented local junior high schools. About 50 senior high students and several from the elementary level took part. Ken Ramsbottom, a South High student, and Keith Julius of Prather JHS, finished the course in first and second place, respectively. Debbie Hendon, a Coolidge JHS pupil, tallied the highest number of pledges—84. Student Councils at North and South High Schools coordinated the Walkathon.

Nearly 500 walk to aid March of Dimes

Nearly 500 junior high school pupils, senior high youth and adults participated this week in the annual "Walkathon" to benefit the March of Dimes. The walkers began their 10-mile hike at Wilson Park risk and had the option of stopping at four intermediate rest areas along the route.

Among the adult walkers was John Haug, counselor at Prather Junior High School, who walked the distance with a large group of students from Prather School.

Debbie Hendon, a Coolidge Junior High School student, presented a registration card bearing the signatures of 84 persons pledging her support at varying amounts of cash per mile. She finished the entire 10 miles and currently is collecting the funds from her supporters.

Mrs. Wilma Herring, Granite City March of Dimes chairman, said those taking part should return their pledge cards and money to their individual school office. The funds must be turned in prior to May 17, she added.

The first walker to complete the distance was Ken Ramsbottom, a Granite City High School South student.

He was followed, in order, by Keith Julius, Prather, Mike Turner, South High, Tom Burne, Grigsby, Jim Hayes, North High, Don Palovich, Grigsby, Jim Hixon, South High, James Plak, South High, John Williams, Niedringhaus School, and Allen Huff, Grigsby.

After the hike, participants were treated to refreshments at the park risk. Assisting the March of Dimes committee members were volunteers from the Granite City Society for Crippled Children.

Volunteers at the rest areas enroute included Boy Scouts at St. Margaret Mary Church; Girl Scouts, directed by Mrs. Bonnie Lazenby, at Marshall School; student council members at Granite City Steel; and St. Elizabeth Hospital candystrappers at Memorial Park.

The Walkathon project was planned by the Students Councils at Granite City High School North and South, Ralph Barker, counselor, coordinated the effort at South High, with Harry Cook assisting students at North High School.

Area business firms donated various items for use at the rest stops and the "after walk" picnic.

They included Crystal Clear Ice Co., Cronk's Market, Schermer's Supermarket, Allen Food City, Farm Fresh, 2800 Nameoki Road, Unger's Market, W. and W. Confectionary, Ramsey's Market, Ridgedale Confectionery, Kroyak's Market, Ackerman's Corner Store, E and L Quick Shop, Colonial Bakery, Coca-Cola Co., Pepsi-Cola Co., Shasta Co., Kelly's Meat Market, and Hamilton Bros., Miller Provision Co., and Taroni Meat Co.

The Tri-City Shrine Club compact riders served as escorts and route officials along the line of the walk, Mrs. Herring said.

Horn recital

Ron Stoops, 3901 Gaslight Walk, Pontoon Beach, presented his senior recital Wednesday night in the Lovejoy Library auditorium at SIUE.

Stoops, a student of the horn, was assisted by Jane Bentley at the piano, Randall Chapman, violinist, and Lynn Lambert, Steve Mueller and Michael Quint playing horns.

The recital began with Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's Concerto No. 1 in D Major and continued with Anton Reicha's Trio, No. 5, 1 and 6. Stoops then performed Lowell E. Shaw's "Principles."

Following an intermission, the program closed with Johannes Brahms' Trio in E Flat Major, Opus 40.

First National presents news histroy to schools

As a special Bicentennial feature, First National City National Bank has presented News of the Nation, a newspaper history of the United States, to community schools and public libraries.

The special Bicentennial edition contains 46 newspapers chronicling America's history from Columbus to the present.

The unique history presents the discoveries, the battles, and the breakthroughs of the past. Written in today's newspaper style, the reader is transported backward in time and is given a "you are there" insight into the key events that shaped the nation. Photos, cartoons, drawings and art reproductions enliven the events, a bank spokesman said. Just like today's newspaper, sports, fashion, home decoration, books, plays, music and product advertising are included to provide the flavor of life in the United States 50...100...200 years ago, he said.

Each event is "reported" as it happened at the time, without interpretation based on events that took place later than the date of the story in question. Successive issues cover the events which occurred after the date of the previous issue.

The editor of News of the Nation is Robert M. Hoffman. The publisher is Prentice-Hall, Inc.

ALL DRESSED UP, but...

We Do Everything for Vacationers —but Babysit

It's surprising how many ways we can help make your vacation carefree. First, you may need a Personal Loan to cover expenses. Next, we offer Travelers Checks to protect your funds - against loss or theft. Then there's our Bank-by-Mail Service which means you or your agent can make deposits while you are gone. And, of course, you'll want a Safe Deposit Box where you can safely leave your valuables—everything except the baby, that is!

There are other ways we can help should you plan a more extended absence. But whether you are gone for a week—or a year—let our Vacation Service relieve you of worrisome details. And remember, we offer these same personal services throughout the year to make your living carefree as possible.
